Leaders Arrange Early Passage Of Relief Measures

Congress Will Convene Next Monday—Will Give Re-

MUSCLE SHOALS MAY GET VOTE

Agriculture And Unemployed Legislation For
"Lame Duck" Session

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28.—After ten days of private conferences, the opposing leaders of congress agreed today only on the enactment of legislative relief for agriculture and the unemployed at the "lame duck" session, which convenes Monday.

The thinly veiled threat of insurgents and Democrats, while protesting against filibusters, to force action by the house on the Norris bill, providing for government operation of the Muscle Shoals project, may add that measure to the program. Otherwise, unless compromise agreements are worked out in debate, the legislative output of the final session of the Hoover "honeymoon" congress will be remarkably light.

The administration's farm relief program includes:
1—Appropriation of from $150-000,000 to $250,000,000 for the federal farm board to continue its stabilization program.
2—Passage of a $60,000,000 feed, seed, fertilizer and gasoline bill, to

PA NEWC OBSERVES

Excuse the language, but it was "killing" to watch New Castle and Turtle Creek play yesterday. Not that the game wasn't good—it was—but the elements were against the fans from the beginning to finish.
Like so many others, young Pa Newc endured it and spent the rest of the evening thawing out.

Despite the fact that Old Man Winter pushed the mercury down to an uncomfortable degree, Turtle Creek brought along its band and bugle and drum corps. Although it was cold, they played well. But they weren't playing "Happy Days Are Here Again."

Marooned because of frozen radiators, several cars were seen along highways and around the city Thanksgiving Day. One garage reported it did a banner alcohol business, in fact the best in years.

New Castle becomes the mecca for Pennsylvania Railroad veterans.
Saturday afternoon, at the Carnegie auditorium about 300 who've seen 20 years or more of service will get together for their 10th annual reunion. They'll come from all over the E. & A. division.

Letter carriers know how to keep warm these cold days. Take a glance at them as you pass and notice the warm clothing. They pack themselves well before leaving the post office.

Boy Scouts are planning to help with life in the county during the winter. Each troop, according to the plan is supposed to erect three feeding stations for game birds, in places where the birds have been seen. Feed will be provided until spring.

Today's catch phrase—Heard between fumbles at the football game.
Pa Newc had a hard time getting breakfast the last two mornings.
By the time the milk was thawed out, it was too late to eat breakfast.

There was a wide variety of blankets on display at yesterday's football game and they weren't for sale, or even for hire. A blanket sales-

ELKS LODGE MEMBERS REJECT THEATRE PLAN

Rejecting the announced proposal of Paramount Pictures Inc., New York, calling for the erection of a new $250,000 theatre building on the site of their present lodge home,
New Castle Elks at a membership meeting Wednesday night, definitely put to an end the possibility of such a project being launched on their property at least.

The plan of Paramount, one of the country's largest film producing and theatre-owning firms was to completely raze the present Elks building, at Falls and North Mill, and erect in its place the magnificent show house, with lodge rooms overhead.

Nearly 100 members of the lodge took part in the meeting Wednesday and their negative action was final.
Members named to investigate preliminary details outlined the matter fully before it was placed to a vote.

The present lodge home, one of the finest Elks headquarters in this part of the state, was opened in 1914.

Many Reasons For Thanks Says Dr. W. H. McMasters At Union Service Here

President Of Mt. Union Col-

giving Service Here

Large Crowd Gathers For Meeting At Cathedral
On Thursday

"Thank God that things are not worse" was the ultimatum of Dr.
W. H. McMasters, president of Mt.
Union College, Alliance, Ohio, as he addressed the audience assembled in the Cathedral Thursday morning for the union Thanksgiving service.
Dr. McMasters further stated he had never seen a larger crowd assembled together on Thanksgiving Day except at a football game.

Dr. D. C. Schnebly, president of the New Castle Ministerial Association, was in charge of the meeting and announced the various parts of the program. Seated on the platform were Dr. A. J. Randles, pastor of the Second United Presbyterian church, Dr. C. J. Williamson, pastor of Highland United Presbyterian Rev. G. M. Landis, pastor of the First Baptist, Rev. Rees T. Williams, pastor of the First Congregational,
Rev. A. M. Stump, pastor of St.
Paul's Lutheran, Dr. C. B. Winger, pastor of Central Presbyterian, Dr.
H. C. Weaver, pastor of the First

G. E. MacDonald Jr., tenor and Charles Richards, bass.

Program
Dr. A. J. Randles invoked the divine blessing after which the audience standing sang "America" and the scripture lesson was read by Rev. Jesse B. Porter, this being followed by a selection by the quartet

New York Police Hunt For Clues In Headless Slaying

Head Of Victim Still Missing, Believe Slain Man Was Sailor

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—New York police today said they were inclined to attribute the torso killing of Monday to a madman. A search along the waterfront was instituted in the belief that the victim, whose legs and body were found in various parts of the city, was a sailor, the head has not been found.

A lock on the trunk in which the torso was found floating in the river was found to be from a Stamford, Conn., firm, but police learned that about 75,000 of the locks had been made since July. None of these locks, however, were sent to Bridgeport, Conn., for sale and this was considered significant in that a newspaper from that city dated September 2, was found wrapped around the torso.

BANK PRESIDENT COMMITTS SUICIDE

(International News Service)
NASHVILLE, Tenn., Nov. 28.—
The body of R. E. Donnell, 62, President of the Liberty bank here which was closed two weeks ago, today was found hanging in his room in a downtown hotel.

Police announced it a case of suicide.
Donnell apparently choked himself to death with a shoe-string sometime yesterday afternoon or during the night. The body was found early this morning.
He survived by a wife and a small child.

Thanksgiving Is Cold But Cheery

Bitter Cold Fails To Dampen Ardor Of Football Fans
During Afternoon

Price Of Turkey Enables
Many To Enjoy Feast On Great American Bird

Thanksgiving weather dawned clear and cold yesterday, almost a replica of the weather a year ago, but withal it was a cheerful occasion in most homes.

The price of turkey was lower than in many years and a great many were able to enjoy a real Thanksgiving feast with the great American Bird as the chief piece de resistance.

It was a day of solemn thanksgiving, the union Thanksgiving Day service being held during the morning in the Cathedral as customary, followed by the usual football game in the afternoon. Despite the icy blast from the southwest, several thousand fans braved the cold to witness one of the best football games of the season, and then hurried home to thaw out by the fireside.

Yesterday's weather was almost an exact replica of Thanksgiving a year ago, excepting that it was a few degrees colder this year. A year ago Thanksgiving morning, the minimum temperature recorded was 17 degrees, while yesterday morning it was 10 degrees.

It warmed up a little more during the day, however, last year and then turned colder as evening fell. Yesterday, it kept on getting colder, the maximum temperature yesterday being 12 above zero.

Dirigible Crew Members Injured When Auto Upsets

(International News Service)
COATESVILLE Pa., Nov. 28.—Two members of the crew of the U. S.
Dirigible Los Angeles were injured, one possibly fatally, when their automobile skidded and upset on the Lincoln highway near here today.

Bernard Hammond, the most seriously hurt, is believed to have received a fracture of the skull. Joseph Turner, his companion, received bruises and burns. Both are in the local hospital.

River Project Would Aid Many Now Unemployed

May Be Urged As Relief Measure At Coming Meeting In Washington

LOCAL DISTRICT
TO BE REPRESENTED

When the rivers and harbors congress convenes in Washington December 9 and 10, the immediate improvement of the Beaver, Mahoning and Shenango rivers will be urged as an employment relief measure.
Delegates will represent the trivers association as a body, and the project will also be brought up through the Mississippi Valley association.

Congressman John G. Cooper of Youngstown will address the congress in behalf of this project, and if favorable action can be secured from the rivers and harbors congress, it is believed that actual work will be started within a comparatively short period of time, perhaps within the coming year.

The rivers and harbors congress, which is one of the oldest waterway organizations, does not endorse any specific project but works for the accomplishment of all projects. If they put the slackwater of the Beaver, Mahoning and Shenango rivers on their calendar for improvement, it will mean that they will work wholeheartedly for its completion.

Discuss Employment.
The unemployment factor was much discussed at the St. Louis convention, one speaker stating that 30,000 men would be able to find employment if an emergency appropriation could be made this winter to carry forward river improvement projects throughout the country.

While another speaker stated that if congress would decide to go ahead at once on developing projects under consideration, "all the contracting equipment in the nation, and all the men who want jobs could be taken care of."

This thought is certain to permeate the meetings to be held in Washington early next month, and may result in congress speeding up action on river projects during the early part of the coming year.

The Beaver, Mahoning and Shen-ango Valley association is making plans now for the coming meeting and will urge immediate construction of the local project.

Near Zero Wave Strikes District

Western Pennsylvania Is Visited By Real Winter
—Snow In Sector

WILL MODERATE
SOON IS PROMISE

(By International News Service)

Whipped by whistling, biting winds the 1930 winter season's first bonafide cold snap swept into Pennsylvania today, sending the mercury to new low levels, tying up traffic and bringing suffering and death in its wake.

The Western Pennsylvania sector bore the brunt of King Winter's assault, temperatures ranging from eight degrees above down to zero as the thermometer's indicator shortened point by point in the early morning hours.

May Reach Zero
Relief was promised by weather bureau observers who said, nevertheless, that "it will get worse before it gets better." Predictions were that the mercury would dip to below zero during the day, slowly rising again toward nightfall.

Zero weather was reported in Swissvale and Bloomfield in the Pittsburgh district at 7 o'clock this morning. Several points in the outlying sections also reported zero temperatures.

Pittsburgh's first cold weather fatality was Andrew Rupchest, 45 found dead in his bedroom. The coroner's office reported that prior exposure had caused death.

Highways Hazardous Highways throughout the western portion of the state and even city streets were covered with snow and ice today. Hazardous automotive traffic conditions were rendered less dangerous through heroic work by State Highway Department employees who patrolled all familiar "bad spots," keeping the roads cindered.

Numerous automobile crashes were reported among those who ventured to drive while hundreds of motorists who had neglected cold weather precautions found their radiators frozen.

King Winter also tightened his grip on the eastern half of the state.
Icy winds coupled with clear skies sent the mercury tumbling to new low levels for the year with temperatures ranging from 10 above zero in the Pocono Mountain region of the northern section to 20 above in the Philadelphia district.

Heavy Snows In Northern Counties

Several Feet Of Snow In Erie
And Crawford County Areas

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Nov. 28.—Snows which fell in the north-western counties of the state over the holiday for the first time this season have closed two roads the highway department reported today. Another road was restricted to half-width traffic.

The routes from Conneaut Lake to the Ohio line and from Conneaut Lake to Conneautville have been closed by a two to three foot snowfall in Erie and Crawford counties.
The highway from Cambridge Springs to Erie has been reduced to one-way traffic.

The department sent snow plows from other sections into the affected area. In some places drifts have been reported to be eight feet high as necessitated the use of rotot snowplows.

Other counties affected and the depth of snow are: Clarion, 8 inches; Warren, 16 inches; Venango, 8 inches; Mercer, 7 inches, Lawrence, 3 inches.

HOOVER COMPLETES CONGRESS MESSAGE

President Sends Congress Message To Printer —Will Be Read
Monday

Wickersham Commission Lends Very Little Assistance To Hoover

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28.— President Hoover completed his message to Congress and sent it to the printer today without the benefit of any advice from the Wickersham Commission on the controversial matter of prohibition.

As forecast, the commission has been unable to adjust its own conflicting views to the point of giving Mr. Hoover a majority report to guide him in his recommendations to congress. Consequently it is expected that the annual presidential message on the state of that nation will have little to say concerning the most discussed subject in the country.

Commission Adjourns
The commission is in adjournment until December 8. Life for the commissioners has been a steady series of adjustments for some months. Unable to make much headway in the formal sessions, Chairman Wickersham has all but abandoned them and turned to informal and private discussion of the most controversial phase of the commission's work.

What progress, if any, has been made in these discussions is not apparent. Chairman Wickersham preserves a smiling exterior and answers no questions. The rift in the commission's ranks, however, is well known, and the belief persists that there will be more than one report finally emanating from it.

The hope now is that a report can be completed and laid before Mr.
Hoover by the first of the year. It could then be made the subject of a special message to congress.

Meanwhile, the returning congress is showing signs of considerable impatience for the commission's inability to arrive at some conclusions.
Rep. Shreve (R) of Penna., chairman of the appropriations subcommittee that has to do with prohibition funds, announced he was in favor of holding up all appropriations for prohibition enforce-

Central States Held In Grip Of Near Zero Wave

Fifteen Deaths From Cold And Exposure In Middle West

FORECASTERS REPORT
HEAVY SNOW COMING

Cold Wave Extends Down To Southern States—
Frost At Atlanta, Georgia

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Nov. 28.—Fifteen deaths from cold and exposure were reported throughout the Middle West today as the Central States
sub-zero wave which in many regions has shattered all-time records for November.

Meteorologists reported that a furious snow storm is raging into the middle states from the Alberta section. The snow storm will reach the Chicago area tomorrow, according to forecasters.

Around Zero
In Chicago early today the temperature stood at two degrees above zero with subzero temperatures predicted later. A temperature of 3 below was reported at Elgin, Ill.

Two men died of the cold in Chicago yesterday as hundreds of unfortunate were given shelter by various charities. More than 2,000 men were given food and shelter at the Tower Town and Wrigley charities, suffering caused by the frigid weather spurred the campaign here for unemployment relief.

Roads Snow-Blocked Five deaths were attributed to the cold at Indianapolis, Ind. Snow-blocked roads in Indiana stranded hundreds of automobilists.

In Ohio, with temperatures near the zero mark, six persons were dead. Two were frozen to death in Minneapolis, Michigan, with temperatures ranging from 1 to 12 degrees above zero, was suffering from snow-blocked roads in the vicinity of Niles and Kalamazoo. Two hundred automobiles were dug out of the snow near Benton Harbor.

Most of the south was attacked by the record cold. Snow was reported in Kentucky, Virginia and North Carolina. Atlanta, Ga., had a low temperature of 23 degrees while frost was reported over a wide area.

Stroke Fatal To Retired Farmer

(International News Service)
POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., Nov.
28.—An entire family of four persons was found murdered today on a farm at Willow Brook, 20 miles from here.

The dead are: Husted Germond, 43; Mary Germond, 39, his wife, and their two children Bernice, 18, and Raymond, 8.

All of the victims had been stabbed to death.
Neither the sheriff nor the coroner have found any possible motive for the crime.

The bodies of the father and son were found in a wagon shed and the bodies of the mother and daughter were found in the house. The body of the 18-year-old daughter was found underneath a sink. The sheriff said he believed she had hid there in an attempt to escape.
Wilbur Cox, an employee of a large milk farm who collects milk from the Germond farm, found the bodies. He noticed that the Ger-mond family had not sent their quota of milk for several days and today searched the farm and discovered the tragedy.

World War Flier Called By Death

(International News Service)
FARRELL, Pa., Nov. 28.—William J. Bowen, 41, aviator during the Bowen had been in ill health since he was discharged from the army at the end of the war.

Arthur Mometer

These are days for woolen mittens, and for socks of heavy strand, for the winter's icy fingers clutch a shivering, chilly land. Noses look like pickled cherries, cheeks have bloom not made by man, and the girls don't need complexion that is gotten from a can. These are days for heavy coal bills and for gas bills running high, how we miss those warm September days when mercury was high. For it's done dizzy nose dive and the zero line is seen as a morning treat for farmers.
Weather's cold it's just nineteen.

Two Young Girls Burned To Death

Series Of Disastrous Fires Sweep Pittsburgh
District

ESTIMATED LOSS
PUT AT $200,000

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Nov. 28.—Two six-year-old girls were dead today as the result of disastrous fires which swept through the Pittsburgh district with losses estimated at $200,000 after nine victims had suffered injuries and about 75 others were forced to flee into the icy streets to safety.

Catherine Proesch, six, of South Side, suffered fatal burns when her clothing became ignited from an open gas stove in her home, according to the coroner's report. The child, her clothing a mass of flames, ran screaming to her mother, who was preparing the Thanksgiving dinner for the family. She died in the hospital late yesterday of her burns.

Annabelle Weathers, six, negro, was burned to death when trapped by flames which destroyed her home Thanksgiving morning. Mrs. Lottie Weathers, the child's mother, was severely burned when she attempted to rescue her daughter. Two other children in the family were removed to the Passavant hospital suffering severe burns.

Two stores and a motion picture theater were destroyed by flames in Braddock, Pa., with loss estimated at $100,000 by firemen. One woman collapsed as 35 tenants in the building were forced to flee to the street by the blaze.

Four stores on Main street, Bentleyville, were gutted by flames which overcame two firemen who were battling the flames. Loss was set at $100,000 by police. Led by their father, Stanley Levodski, the children and their mother escaped from the burning interior.

One man was burned in a fire which destroyed a restaurant and rooming house at Grant street and Second avenue in Pittsburgh. Seventeen roomers occupying the building were forced to flee into the street. Loss was set at $5,300 by city fire officials.

Two persons were hurt early yesterday morning while watching firemen extinguish flames which destroyed two homes at Whittaker. Ten occupants of the two dwellings were forced to flee by the flames, which caused damage estimated by firemen at $5,000.

Former Governor Of Milan, Italy, Given Sentence

Convicted Of Graft Professor Belloni, Sent To Small Island For Five Years

(International News Service)
ROME, Nov. 28.—Convicted of graft in connection with a municipal loan obtained from a New York firm, Professor Belloni, former postmaster (governor) of the city of Milan, has been sentenced to five years' political confinement on a small island off the Italian coast, it was officially announced today.

At the same time announcement was made that Signor Belloni, a former Liberal minister, has been sentenced to a similar term for anti-Fascist activities.

An investigation launched by Signor Farinacci, general secretary of the Fascist party, showed the court declared that Belloni had inflicted a loss of 9,000,000 lire (almost $500,000) upon the Milan taxpayers by disregarding offers made by other bidders.

The charges against Belloni caused a tremendous sensation. He brought suit against Farinacci for calumny, but the public prosecutor withdrew the charges, finding Farinacci's accusations well grounded.

Professor Belloni, the charges stated, failed to notify the Milan authorities of more favorable terms quoted by the others than the successful bidding company.

There isn't room in one country for a public in sympathy with the law and cops who use the third degree.

You're the JUDGE

Mr. S. S. Jones of the firm of Jones, Smith and Jones, counselors-at-law, was engaged in the arduous task of a lengthy prosecution. There was certain evidence Mr. S. S. Jones needed. He arranged with one Mr. Bloos, who was not an attorney, to procure that evidence. When Mr. Bloos began to inquire what he might expect for his efforts, Mr. S. S. Jones promised him a percentage of the fee that he would receive in the case under consideration.

Bloos went to work at once and in a short time he had the evidence in hand. With his attorney, S. S. Jones won the case. But when Bloos asked Mr. Jones for his percentage, Mr. Jones had forgotten all about it. Bloos sued.

How would you decide this case? Make up your mind before you read the decision.

PA NEW OBSERVES

man could have reaped a harvest about the time the second half of the game started. Pa New didn't see anyone leaving however.

There was more turkey eaten yesterday than on many a Thanksgiving Day in the past. The price was so reasonable that birds were at a premium late Wednesday evening, most of the stores having sold out their supply.

When the snow crunches under your feet like it did this morning, it is cold.

Love is entirely oblivious to cold. Pa New observed a loving young pair in a roadster, parked on Mercer street Thursday evening, cooling and biling. And the thermometer registered just twelve above zero.

Plenty of motorists were caught without anti-freeze compounds in their radiators Thursday morning, and many a car went along the streets, steaming. Some were frozen up entirely and had to be towed.

Young Pa New never saw so many blankets in all his life as on Thanksgiving Day at Taggart field. The majority of fans all made sure they had a blanket with them.

The open season for frozen water pipes is here at last. It is always best to be on the safe side. It's quite hard on the disposition to awake these mornings to find the water lines frozen up solid. And they will freeze. Why not anti-freeze for water pipes?

The official low temperature at the local weather observation station at the pump station of the New Castle Water Company was six degrees above zero this morning. Observer B. F. Johnson, stated that at the reservoir atop the hill along the Pulaski road, the temperature was four above zero.

Winter is here alright. Neshannock creek is frozen over today for the first time, this year. The ice is not thick enough however, to skate on.

In the midst of the policeman's ball, Thursday evening, the announcement was made that an automobile was burning up just outside the building. Now as a general rule that is all that is needed to get a crowd around a burning automobile. But the crowd of people in the ballroom didn't even raise an eyebrow. Perhaps it was because of the uninviting weather outside. Or perhaps it was because the dance was so enjoyable.

Jefferson hill last night was icy but not dangerous if motorists used caution. Pa New noticed many cars going up and down the hill, sans chains.

Despite the bitter cold weather, a huge crowd of folks gathered at the Cathedral last night and enjoyed the night at the twelfth annual policeman's ball.

Well, the next holiday is Christmas.

A badly damaged coupe was hauled over East North street Thursday. Looked as though it had been hit by something hard.

A few more days like the last two, and skating will be good in various spots throughout the district. Where the water was still and shallow, it has now frozen hard enough to bear skaters, but it is hardly safe yet on large bodies like the cement works dam and Cascade Park Lake.

The defeat of some prominent drys is a hard blow to Washington bootleggers.

MANY REASONS FOR THANKS SAYS DR. W. H. McMASTERS

Thanksgiving prayer and the president's proclamation was read by Rev. Rees T. Williams.

The announcement of the offering was given by Dr. C. J. Williams, who announced the proceeds would be equally divided between the Associated Charities and the Alms Home. The quartet again sang "I Cannot Find Thee."

Speaker Introduced

Dr. Charles B. Wingerd then introduced the speaker of the day, Dr. W. H. McMasters, president of Mt. Union College, Alliance, Ohio, saying, in addition to the splendid educational system we have in our city we are in the midst of a college zone, and were indeed fortunate to secure such a splendid speaker for the occasion as the president of one of the nearby colleges. Dr. McMasters having served twenty-one years in his present capacity.

Dr. McMasters acknowledged the introduction in a masterly way, then turned to his Thanksgiving address: "We think this year we have nothing to be thankful for: we have had hardships, a panic, depression of business and almost despair; but as we look back over the years, these things have happened before; since the founding of our nation we have gone through such panics, and always come out winners; we have had an election that puts a great many wet senators in Congress; yes, and we have unemployment, never have there been so many unemployed in our country: it is a serious situation, there is hunger, need and distress on every hand." But, "We should thank God things are not worse."

"Our Puritan fathers had a year of crop failure, loss of stock, and a time of depression worse than we have today, but what did they do? they inaugurated the holiday we are now observing." The depression we are undergoing today would have seemed a time of prosperity thirty years ago.

Dr. McMasters further stated that the Thanksgiving proclamation issued by George Washington was not much unlike that of President Hoover this year: all down the ages there is plenty to be thankful for, if we look for it.

He then referred to the text of his sermon, Habakkuk 3:17-18, then went on to say today we should be thankful we have no war in the land, things are at a state of peace and we should further this program of peace, with America acting as the leader: we should thank God for the new land we have gained this year, that discovered by Byrd at the south pole, and also give thanks that all his men were returned in safety after their exploit; we should thank God for the abundant health of the nation; today we are better equipped for looking after the health of the nation than ever before; this work being carried on in our schools and colleges; we should thank God for the better social feeling of the nation; we have worked for freedom of mind, religion, politics and now economics and the social workers of the country are working out a plan that will culminate in economic freedom for all.

We should observe this day by helping and aiding the worthy poor, and taking an interest in our fellow men, like unto that Christ takes in all persons; when we can love with the untiring and undiminished love of Him who gave his life we can find the ultimate in Thanksgiving spirit and our thanks will go up to Him "Although the fig tree shall not blossom, neither shall fruit be in the vines; the labour of the olive shall fail and the fields shall yield no meat; the stock shall be cut off from the fold and there shall be no herd in the stalls: Yet I will rejoice in the Lord, I will joy in the God of my salvation."

At the close of the address Rev. A. M. Stump pronounced the benediction.

STAR LORE

By Arthur DeV. Carpenter.

In the ancient days in Egypt, when a temple was about to be built, the king went forth "accompanied mythically by the goddess Sesheta" known as the "mistress of the laying of the foundation stone." The ceremony was known as the "stretching of the cord." This alignment of the cord determined the axis of the temple. The king and his attendant aligned the cord with a certain star as the case might be, at their rising or at their setting; to each end of the cord a stake was tied, and the stakes were driven in the ground with a wooden mallet. Thus the temple was accurately oriented.

CONGRESS MESSAGE

ment until the Wicksham commission submits its report.

Drys Are Critical

Rep. James M. Beck, (R) of Penna., a former solicitor general and accounted the foremost constitutional lawyer in congress, has been advocating suppression of all enforcement appropriations as the easiest method of "killing prohibition."

Even the drys themselves, who all along have regarded the Wicksham commission with hopeful and kindly eyes, are disposed now to be critical of its delays and lack of action. If the commission is not able to place something before the President and congress by January 1, it is quite probable there will be an oratorical storm of no small proportions.

Reports that the commission would recommend low-voltage beer continued to float about the Capitol, but without any confirmation from responsible sources.

These rumors, however, have aroused the drys.

W. C. T. U. Active

The W. C. T. U. came forth with a statement today proclaiming that 4 per cent beer is intoxicating in fact, and citing a report from the Carnegie Institution to that effect. The organization went a bit further than usual in that it declared the Supreme Court never would permit beer to be made under the 18th Amendment.

"Neither this nor the next congress will legalize intoxicating beer," said the Union. "President Hoover has said that to permit that which the constitution forbids is unthinkable." And future congress attempting to legalize an intoxicant will find the Supreme Court adamant against permitting beverages intoxicating in fact to be made under the 18th Amendment.

"Political leaders who are keeping themselves in the limelight with beer propaganda know that 4 per cent beer is not only impossible under the 18th Amendment, but is unsatisfactory to the drinker; that 2.75 per cent beer would be a less satisfactory; that neither would be a commercial success; and that beer will not settle prohibition problems; merely complicate them."

LEADERS ARRANGE EARLY PASSAGE OF RELIEF MEASURES

aid farmers in drought-stricken states.

3—Appropriation of a fund for the construction of new roads in states affected by unemployment, without demanding state contributions.

4—Speeding the government's public building program, so work will start at once on authorized projects.

Little Opposition.

There will be little opposition to this program, once administration leaders throw some light on the activities and future plans of the federal farm board. The only objection voiced so far has been against the veil of secrecy thrown around the board's plans for handling and disposing of surplus wheat bought in the open market. The program will likely be approved.

Beside these administration farm relief measures, the Democrats and insurgents have demanded enactment of:

1—The Wagner unemployment bill, creating a federal reserve construction fund for use in unemployment agencies and the establishment of a nationwide organization for stabilizing employment.

2—The Norris resolution, submitting to the state a constitutional amendment eliminating "lame duck" sessions of congress and advancing the inauguration of the president to January.

3—The Norris bill, providing for government operation of the Muscle Shoals project, but likely providing for private operation of the fertilizer plant.

These measures have passed the senate only to be sidetracked or abandoned in the house. The coalition has been promised a vote in the house on the Norris plan for Muscle Shoals, which probably will result in the termination of the ten-year controversy over that project. The fate of the Wagner bills and the "lame duck" resolution is doubtful.

AUTO IS DRIVEN INTO LOCOMOTIVE

found that the woman was Mrs. Edna May Cameron of 218 East Clayton street. She was removed to her home, where a physician was called and on examination, found her injuries of such a nature that she had to be removed to the hospital.

The license number of the car was looked up and found to be listed in the name of Edward Bowlers, Fredonia, Mercer county, Pa., R. D. No. 2. According to the police, Mrs. Cameron stated the driver of the car was Joe Smith of Ellwood City. Neither the man in whose name it was listed or the alleged driver of the car was located by the police, the driver having disappeared following the accident.

The Pennsylvania engine was in charge of Conductor A. B. Root and according to his statement, the driver of the car drove it right into the engine.

Firemen Notified

A misunderstanding following the accident nearly sent fire apparatus to the seventh Ward station to the scene of the collision.

The operator was asked to call an ambulance to the Seventh Ward fire station, as it was intended to bring the woman injured in the station. According to Fire Chief Lynn, a mistake was made and the station was informed that an auto struck by the engine was on fire.

A conductor arrived at the fire station just as the fire apparatus cleared out and firemen were informed that there was no fire; that only an ambulance was needed. In the meantime the man driving the car had taken the woman home, as she lived near the scene of the accident.

NEAR ZERO WAVE STRIKES DISTRICT

the region Thanksgiving Day with temperatures ranging from freezing to 22 above. Then during the night the skies cleared and the mercury dropped even lower as a keen cold wind arose.

Through the central region, icy blasts swinging in from the west and northwest sent temperatures banging downward toward the freezing mark.

Temperatures ranging from 19 degrees down to 15 were reported in the central part of the state, with snow flurries in the northern and north-central counties.

At least one more day of clear, cold weather was predicted for Central Pennsylvania before temperatures begin rising.

For a distance of five miles below Franklin, Pa., the Allegheny river was frozen into a highway of ice over which whistled the chilly blasts of a wind hovering around the zero mark on the thermometer.

The early freezing both at Franklin and Oil City about eight miles below brought with it fears on the part of residents in the district that a huge ice gorge would be formed in the Allegheny later in the season when the warm temperatures cause streams to thaw.

FAMILY DINNER AT KERR HOME

To have four generations participate in the family dinner is an unusual occurrence and when this is added to sixty years of entertaining a family, it then stands out as something important.

Both these interesting facts were brought out Thursday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Kerr, North Beaver street, when they entertained their family at the annual Thanksgiving gathering.

Mr. and Mrs. Kerr have been married 63 years and for sixty years have been holding these celebrations. They are the parents of eight children, seven of whom, with their children and their children's children, gathered Thursday. A son Edward M. of California, was unable to be present.

Covers were marked for thirty five, parents, children, grand children and great grandchildren. The oldest to sit down to the delicious menu was Mrs. Hanna Waddington, a sister of Mrs. Kerr, aged 96 and the youngest was Donald Kerr, the fifteen month old son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Kerr.

The grandchildren and great grandchildren brought the flowers which were used in table decorations, these being profuse in number, varieties and colors.

The after dinner hours were enjoyed in renewing family ties and at a late hour all departed for their homes, planning on a repetition of the event at next Thanksgiving.

1923 S. L. MEMBERS ENTERTAIN WEDNESDAY

Dainty refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by her sister, Mrs. Margaret McEveley, at the close of the evening.

On December 10 the ladies will assemble at the home of Mrs. P. P. Capitola, Leasure avenue.

The ceremony was performed by Dr. S. W. Bettler, pastor of the First Presbyterian church. The bride was escorted by her father, and her only attendant was her sister, Miss Phyllis Fletcher. Robert B. Greer, Jr., was his brother's best man.

The ceremony was followed by a luncheon at the Hotel Nixon and the bridal couple left for Boston immediately thereafter.

Mrs. Greer was a graduate from Wellesley college in 1926, having had highest honors in Latin and Chemistry at that institution during her college course, taught there three years when she received her Masters degree. #### THANKSGIVING DAY AT FIELD CLUB HOUSE

With the rooms of the New Castle Field Club house beautifully decorated in Autumnal tones, and so appropriate to Thanksgiving day, it was indeed a fitting setting for the guests who gathered there to observe this occasion.

Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Garland and Mr. and Mrs. H. Rappold proved themselves most successful hosts and hostesses Thursday, when they carried out a program especially arranged for the pleasure of members and their guests.

From 12:30 to 2 o'clock, a delicious lunch was served, and the evening menu which was served from 6 to 7:30 o'clock, was elaborate and most delectable, consisting of all the dishes in keeping of such an occasion. Indoor golf played an important part in the afternoon schedule, while in the evening, card tables were arranged about the rooms, and an interesting session of bridge was enjoyed. Those winning the lovely favors, were Mrs. H. T. Frushour, Miss Anna Aiken and Miss Virginia Cook. The men holding honors were also recipients of appropriate prizes. They were E. C. Johnston, D. H. Long and W. K. Hugs. At the close of the evening a tasty lunch was served the guests before all departed for their homes.

There will be another evening bridge held at the club house on Thursday, December 11. The hostesses on this date will be Mr. and Mrs. W. K. Hugs and Dr. and Mrs. C. F. McDowell.

Another feature that has been arranged for which will interest the men of the club, is a series of stag parties. The first of these will be held on Monday, December 1st, at the Field Club. These events will continue on every other Monday. W. M. Nunn and Lloyd Strayer will be the hosts. Indoor golf and cards will be feature entertainments, and a lunch will be served the men at the close of the evening.

CLUB MEMBERS HAVE REGULAR MEETING

Mrs. Earl Chaffee of Maryland avenue charmingly entertained the O. E. A. Club members in her home Wednesday evening. Cards formed the chief diversion of the social period and the trophies for honors were won by Mrs. William Dukes and Mrs. C. E. Armstrong, while the regular club favor was given to Mrs. W. H. Tanney. Later a dainty lunch was served the guests by the hostess at the small tables prettily arranged in Thanksgiving novelties. Her daughter Edith assisted in serving.

The next meeting of the club will be held at the home of Mrs. Harry Davies of DuShane street on December 10.

Club Changes Name.

The Lucky Strike club will now be known as the Ritz club, the members having changed the name at the meeting held Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Mike Cavella on South Jefferson street. Games and stunts were pastimes and prizes for the features were won by Millie Valensi, Lena Panella, Bessie Panella and Mary Farone. At a late hour the hostess served a dainty lunch to the guests, bringing another meeting to a close.

The date of the next meeting of the members falls on Wednesday, December 10.

Thanksgiving Dinner

Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Conway of North Mercer St., entertained at a family Thanksgiving dinner at their home on Thursday evening. After serving of a turkey dinner, the evening hours were spent in an informal social manner. Included in the gathering were Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Conway of New Wilmington, Prof. and Mrs. L. H. Conway and son Markham of Sewickley, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Conway, and son George, Jr., of this city and Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Conway and daughter Maxine.

Thanksgiving Dinner.

Homecoming is a rare event when the Thanksgiving season rolls around and this was the case Thursday when Mr. and Mrs. N. Colnot of Rav street, gathered their family together at dinner in their home.

Covers were arranged for 16 at a table prettily centered with chrysanthemums and after a delicious menu had been served the family enjoyed an afternoon of informal conversation.

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Colnot of Youngstown, were out of town guests.

Honors Son of Birthday

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Crisswell of the Graceland road entertained fourteen relatives and friends in their home Tuesday evening from 7 until 10 o'clock to honor their son, Charles Jr., the occasion being his seventh birthday. The hours were spent with games, chat, stunts and music, and at a late hour a tempting repast was served by Mrs. Crisswell assisted by her daughter Grace.

The guest of honor received a score or more gifts in memory of the day.

McCreary-Chappell Wedding

A pretty wedding was solemnized at high noon Thursday when Miss Malissa McCreary, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph McCreary of Poland Ohio, was united in marriage to Robert Chappell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Chappell of Adams street. The ceremony was performed at the home of Rev. Evan P. Thomas, brother-in-law of the groom, and pastor of the Primitive Methodist church at Frank, Penna., who officiated with the ring ceremony. The bride was pretty in a gown of blue crepe with accessories to match. The couple were unattended.

A wedding dinner was served at the pastor's home following the ceremony, with covers being laid for five. The wedding table was decorated in tones of pink and white.

Later in the day Mr. and Mrs. Chappell left for a short wedding trip to points in Western Pennsylvania and Ohio.

IMPOTENT POLITICIANS

THE answer to those who claim that a change of administration in Washington would restore prosperity, is found in England.

England elected a Labor government because of unemployment, ruined business and colonial uprisings, and now that government faces a greater unemployment crisis than ever confronted a Liberal or Conservative government and is striving to cope with a tremendous popular uprising among people who regard themselves as oppressed by the British government.

Were a Tory or Liberal government in power in England today, leaders of the Labor party and dissatisfied workers and voters would place the blame on the pledge of prosperity and liberty for the underdog, which now appears to have been just another campaign promise.

The surprising thing is not the failure of the Labor government but the credulity of the people who believed it could carry out its solemn pledge.

When will the voters learn that great economic or political reforms are never effected by changing horses in mid-stream? Labor politicians are as bankrupt of ideas as other politicians, nor do they know any more other politicians what to do in a crisis. The only change in the old abracadabra is the accent.

THE AWAKENING SOUTH

For a generation the South has not been taken seriously by the politicians of either party. The Republican politicians had no hope of winning anything there, so why should they consider the wishes of the South? The Democratic politicians had no fear of losing there, so why should they trouble themselves about the protests of the South?

Perhaps the South will now come into its own, politically speaking. There was no guarantee of that in the breaking of the solid South in 1928, because politics was not a factor in that upset. But one congressional election this year has put a number of Southern states in the doubtful column to the consternation of one side and the delight of the other.

Should the time ever come when a Republican candidate for president can carry the South or a part of it on political issues alone, then will it cease to be said, as it is now being said about President Hoover's cabinet, that southerners are as scarce in a Republican cabinet as Republicans in the statehouses of the South.

There seems little likelihood of the South sinking back into her former complete dependence upon one party. Too many northern Republicans are going South and too many southerners are acquiring northern ideas about the tariff and other public matters.

BANNING IMMIGRATION FOR TWO YEARS

Senator Reed's plan for banning immigration for two years, save for the near relatives of aliens already here, is not a bad one. Indeed, it should prove helpful when so many American citizens are out of work. To allow immigrants to swell the ranks of those seeking jobs adds to the unsatisfactory situation.

True, the state and labor departments are co-operating to refuse visas to intending emigrants unless they can show that they are not likely to become a burden on the American public, but nevertheless they can not suspend the quotas, which is precisely what Senator Reed proposes to do, opines the Philadelphia Inquirer. There is no intention on his part to amend the immigration laws; to reopen old problems; to change the quotas in any way. To do so would provoke a renewal of controversy. A mere suspension for the time being is his object, and he rightly asserts that it is unfair to our workers to permit aliens to come here to displace men now employed or in a degree to become a public charge. "The welfare of our people must take precedence over the desire of aliens to enter the United States."

Before the war immigration was reaching high totals. The end of hostilities menaced the United States with a tremendous flood of newcomers. The danger that a million or so aliens a year could not be readily assimilated; that the American wage scale would be menaced, was realized to be serious. Hence a restricted immigration law. Without it, where would this country be today? But even with restriction too many are coming in. It is just as well, therefore, that the flow should be stopped until we as a people can take account of stock and get the country on its solid footing again.

Senator Reed has proposed something which should receive the hearty approval of congress.

Book Lovers Are Never Lonely

Why be so dependent upon others for amusement and entertainment? Have you nothing within yourself upon which to draw when alone? Are there not subjects you need to study, given a little time? Are there not scores of good books you have not read? Can you not be contented by yourself if you have good reading material?

None, who can gain access to books and is able to read, should be lonely. If you have not cultivated the habit of reading when alone, or provided time for reading in your daily regime, you have overlooked one of your greatest privileges. If you have never enjoyed the companionship of books surrounding you in a room, you have missed a treat.

The reader who has cultivated this privilege, never feels alone. Something must be wrong with your scheme of things if enjoyment means the society of others to the exclusion of interesting reading. The regret of most folk is that they can find so little time to read. Try reading if you are lonely—cultivate the habit of good reading. You will find that you will seek opportunities to be alone.

MY TEN COMMENTS ON SELLING

1. Be agreeable. Be agreeable in voice and in all details of dress. Like the average customer, I am not a slave to reason, and I buy where I'm treated most agreeably.
2. Know the things you are selling me. Tell me what I want to know about them in English.
3. Don't argue with me. When you disagree with me, and tell me about it, you will succeed in antagonizing me.
4. Make it plain, whatever it is. Don't talk at random.
5. Tell the truth. If you lie, don't expect me to buy again.
6. Be dependable. If you promise me something, keep the promise.
7. Remember my name and face. Nothing pleases a man more than subtle flattery.
8. Beware of egotism. Don't tell me about yourself when you are trying to sell me something. Get me to talk about myself if you can.
9. Think success. Radiate confidence. It's contagious.
10. Be human. Selling goods successfully is a psychological proposition.

WE MUST PAY OUR WAY

YOU KNOW the lad who always, somehow, manages to let you pay his street car fare? He seems to be trying to get to the cashbox first, but he never wins the race. It's always your money and not his that pays the fare. And after a while you begin to wonder if he isn't one of those fellows who never Pay Their Way—and you don't like him as much as you did. He saves a few cents and loses your respect.

You know the acquaintance who never gets the dinner check? You get it, and he says he'll pay next time, but he never does. He's saving his money for something else, and every dinner that somebody else pays for it so much more money in his bank account. He's getting ahead, but he's not Paying His Way. He saves a dollar and loses your friendliness.

You know the people who whimper about life and shift from their responsibilities—and let them fall onto the shoulders of those who are nearest and ought to be dearest to them. Again, those people are failing to Pay Their Way. They save themselves trouble and suffering, but they lose their OWN Self-Respect.

None of these people Pay Their Way. None of them seem to understand that one of the greatest sources of happiness in life is to feel an obligation toward other people and to pay that debt. The Little Men do not know that, but the Big Men do, and lately I learned something about one Great Man that made me warm to him as if I'd found a friend.

The man is Albert Einstein. We have all heard about that man. We've heard his name frequently enough these last few years, even though we do not understand three complicated mathematical formulae that he works out in his subtle brain and sets on paper. He is famous and he may be famous as long as Human History is being made. We could forgive him for being proud and arrogant.

But just last week I learned that Albert Einstein is not proud but HUMBLE. I read something by him that made me understand how simple and kind the man really is. In two pages in a magazine he packed the truth about himself. He said there is just one thing in life that all of us know: we are here on earth for other men and women, for those who are closest to us and for those, also, whom we will never see. Presently every day Albert Einstein realizes how much his entire life within and without, is dependent on the labor of other people, living and dead, and he tells himself again and again how hard he must work in his short visit to this earth to repay a little of his debt to human beings. And very often, he said, he is made unhappy by the fear that he has taken too much from other men and will NEVER be able to pay back what he has borrowed.

Do you feel humble in the presence of this great man, so soberly confessing a fear that he has not Paid His Way? Though all his mathematical theories may prove false, though all his fame be fleeting, by that great confession alone he Pays His Way and makes the rest of us ashamed.

Recognizing the fact that virtually independent states have been created by a process entirely peaceful, by free consent of those concerned, the ROCHESTER TIMES-UNION declares that "there is nothing quite like this in the history of any other empire at any period in the history of the world."

What the empire will do as an empire, according to the HANNAH MORNING NEWS, "will be determined by the partners represented by their premiers, and it is easy to imagine a condition of affairs which would cause England itself to be in a minority in the votes of the several partners. The empire is stronger than it was by reason of the parceling out of the power of the empire, vested in the government in London." A dissenting opinion, however, comes from the ST. PAUL PIONEER PRESS, in the statement: "The really fundamental question, the relation of each dominion to the Empire, is left just as confused as ever. And this question is probably destined never to be answered until some event occurs that will put the unity of the Empire to practical test."

The situation in India is made more impressive by the reports that there is unprecedented harmony among the various factions in that populous possession of Great Britain. There can be confidence. In the judgment of the NEW YORK HERALD TRIBUNE, "that the pleasure with which they now greet an Indian united front in London is not feigned. The British cannot be otherwise than pleased; because a powerful Indian league now promises to take the problem of dealing with Ghandi-ism off their hands and because they know that both the princes and the Moslems will favor continued British control, such essential safeguards to British interests as national defense, domestic police administration, foreign relations, currency and possibly revenue collection, all of which an untrained Indian democracy is prone to muddle."

"Light seems breaking," remarks the PORTLAND OREGON JOURNAL, "over the treaty of India. There is promise that the mailed hand with which Britain has held India bound for more than two centuries is partly to loosen its hold. Back in 1917, Britain announced her purpose to prepare India for self-government as rapidly as possible. A constitution giving some share of responsibility to Indian ministers was put into effect in 1920. Tremendous problems are involved in any solution of the Indian situation." The SAN ANTONIO EXPRESS feels that "doubtless Great Britain will proceed carefully with the feudatory sultans and rajahs, hoping that they voluntarily will become constitutional rulers." The LOUISVILLE COURIER-JOURNAL thinks that "plans now in the making will be laid with an eye to gradual readjustment, rather than risking upheaval and chaos which inevitably would follow radical changes."

Prediction of "an agreement to confer dominion status upon India, with a few reservations that reasonable Indians can tolerate," is made by the TORONTO DAILY STAR.

Turn Eyes To British Empire

Imperial Conference Action On Dominions As Equals Of England And Prospects Of Concessions To India Impress World

Americans as well as citizens of other nations study the prospect of new partnerships within the British Empire. Action by the Imperial Conference, favoring equality with England for the dominions is looked upon as historic, because it makes England a dominion, and there is strong belief that India will emerge from negotiations with the home government on a basis of greater self-government.

"Have the British people finally found, in common sense and the liberal mind, the fountain of eternal national youth?" ask the DAYTON DAILY NEWS, with the comment on the equality of the dominions, that "what the United States could get a century and a half ago only by revolution, the other former colonies of Great Britain have won by peaceful evolution. The ASHEVILLE TIMES points out that "the King is really now the ruler of seven countries," and states that "despite the disappointment the dominions feel over the deadlock on tariff, the conference will be hailed by them as one of great achievement."

"In conjunction with this action," says the HARTFORD TIMES, "it was agreed that the governors for the dominions shall be named by the King alone without interference by the government, and this opens the way for the appointment of natives from the dominions." The CLEVELAND NEWS, in reviewing the results, wonders "what might have been the course of world history had this decision been made a generation, two generations, a century ago." Nevertheless, the chance, the CINCINNATI TIMES-STAR declares: "The old affection of the colonies for the traditions and institutions of the Crown seems to be unwavering. The dominions may have the right to secede, but there is no hint of a wish to exercise it."

"Historic achievement" is seen by the WASHINGTON EVENING STAR in the action of the Imperial Conference, and that paper concludes: "Thus the unwritten British constitution is on the verge of another amendment. It connotes no vital change in empire government. About all it does is, on its face, to reaffirm the absolutely autonomous position of each constituent member of the empire. Mother Britain says to the 'daughter' nations, in so many words: 'From now on, each and all of us stand on wholly equal terms, full partners in everything, with the same rights for everybody and special privileges for none.'"

Recognizing the fact that virtually independent states have been created by a process entirely peaceful, by free consent of those concerned, the ROCHESTER TIMES-UNION declares that "there is nothing quite like this in the history of any other empire at any period in the history of the world."

What the empire will do as an empire, according to the HANNAH MORNING NEWS, "will be determined by the partners represented by their premiers, and it is easy to imagine a condition of affairs which would cause England itself to be in a minority in the votes of the several partners. The empire is stronger than it was by reason of the parceling out of the power of the empire, vested in the government in London." A dissenting opinion, however, comes from the ST. PAUL PIONEER PRESS, in the statement: "The really fundamental question, the relation of each dominion to the Empire, is left just as confused as ever. And this question is probably destined never to be answered until some event occurs that will put the unity of the Empire to practical test."

The situation in India is made more impressive by the reports that there is unprecedented harmony among the various factions in that populous possession of Great Britain. There can be confidence. In the judgment of the NEW YORK HERALD TRIBUNE, "that the pleasure with which they now greet an Indian united front in London is not feigned. The British cannot be otherwise than pleased; because a powerful Indian league now promises to take the problem of dealing with Ghandi-ism off their hands and because they know that both the princes and the Moslems will favor continued British control, such essential safeguards to British interests as national defense, domestic police administration, foreign relations, currency and possibly revenue collection, all of which an untrained Indian democracy is prone to muddle."

"Light seems breaking," remarks the PORTLAND OREGON JOURNAL, "over the treaty of India. There is promise that the mailed hand with which Britain has held India bound for more than two centuries is partly to loosen its hold. Back in 1917, Britain announced her purpose to prepare India for self-government as rapidly as possible. A constitution giving some share of responsibility to Indian ministers was put into effect in 1920. Tremendous problems are involved in any solution of the Indian situation." The SAN ANTONIO EXPRESS feels that "doubtless Great Britain will proceed carefully with the feudatory sultans and rajahs, hoping that they voluntarily will become constitutional rulers." The LOUISVILLE COURIER-JOURNAL thinks that "plans now in the making will be laid with an eye to gradual readjustment, rather than risking upheaval and chaos which inevitably would follow radical changes."

Prediction of "an agreement to confer dominion status upon India, with a few reservations that reasonable Indians can tolerate," is made by the TORONTO DAILY STAR.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

TIME FOR "VIGILANTES"

If Al Capone gets away unpunished with the insolent challenge he has made to the law, then we are sunk.

The visit of "Legs" Diamond to Europe brought out some wise reflections relative to Chicago in the British newspapers. The Manchester Guardian pointed out that the meaning and purpose of civilization is the repression of violence. And that the unrepressed gang members of Chicago show a definite failure of civilization, and of democracy. That the only remedy is a worse evil, tyranny.

The irony is that Al Capone is protected by the law—not so much by his murderous gangmen, but by the constitutional safeguards for which the Anglo-Saxon race fought for a thousand centuries. A few smart unscrupulous lawyers have turned the Bill of Rights into a dagger for assassins.

West Siders In Special Program

Thanksgiving Program Given At School By Host Of Grade Pupils

A Thanksgiving program, taking the form of a resume of an activity which the West Side school has carried on in all branches of its curriculum for some time was presented by pupils, Wednesday. This activity grew out of a desire of the children to gain a more vivid knowledge of the experience of the Pilgrims.

The program included work from the English, history, reading, geography, health, music, arithmetic, art and auditorium departments, as the result of their interest in the activity.

RESINOL "HEALED EVERY PIMPLE"

Writes Miss Klug
"For some years I have had a rough and pimply skin. I tried many kinds of skin lotions and creams, but none of them seemed to do any good. One day I saw your advertisement for Resinol Ointment and sent for a sample. The results were so good, I bought a full size jar. It cleared away the redness and roughness, and healed every pimple. Now I always keep a jar on hand, and am glad to pass along a good word for Resinol."

ennium, submitted to Gov. John S. Fisher, Superintendent of Property and Supplies Benson E. Taylor has requested an appropriation of $200,000 for repointing the stone-work of the capitol, repairs to the dome and cleaning of the exterior walls.

Already much of the interior of the building has been repainted or cleaned, Taylor reported. Minor repairs have been carried out and landscaping of the capitol has proceeded at a good pace, he said.

John Augustine, 57 High street, private first class, machine gun troop, Second U. S. Cavalry, stationed at Fort Riley, Kansas, is enjoying a leave from active duty at his home here and is busy renewing former acquaintanceships. He expects to return to Fort Riley by Christmas Day, December 25, in time for the big Christmas feast that Uncle Sam provides for his soldier boys and which none will miss, if it can be avoided.

Augustine enlisted in June, 1927, and is now serving his second enlistment. He is much enthused with army life and has made an excellent record since becoming a member of the same.

He was first assigned after his enlistment to the Tenth Infantry at Fort Hays, Columbus, O. After being there for some months, he was assigned to special duty with the Detached Enlisted Men's group at Troy, N. Y., where he remained for about four months.

December 15, 1928, he was assigned to the Machine Gun Troop, Second Cavalry, Fort Riley, Kansas, where he has been ever since. While there he has graduated from the Horsehoer's and Map Reading Schools of the army and secured the rating of First Class Gunner on the Mounted Range. Course, which is very difficult to secure and means considerable to an army man.

It means something to an enlisted man, according to Sergeant J. W. Thompson, officer in charge of the recruiting station in this city, to be assigned to Fort Riley, which is one of the best posts of the army and is used for the training of regular army, National Guard and Reserve Officers, as well as enlisted men, who show promise while in the service.

Southern Drys Fight Against Wet Platform

Irrespective Of Presidential Nominee, Southern Drys
To Fight Wets

SENATOR ROBINSON
VERY UNDECIDED

Intensive Battle Will Take Place In National Democratic Convention

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28.—Irrespective of who the Democrats nominate for the presidency in 1932, the Southern drys in the party are not going to permit the adoption of a wet platform without a struggle.

A canvass of opinion among Democrats returning here for the session of congress made this unmistakably clear today. While admittedly impressed by the victories won by wet Democrats in the North and East in the last election, the Southern drys are nevertheless going to wage real warfare in the convention of '32 against any platform declaration for repeal of the 18th Amendment.

Robinson Undecided
"I do not favor repeal of the Amendment," said Senator Joseph T. Robinson of Arkansas, Democratic leader of the senate, when questioned as to his attitude. "What about modification?" he was asked.

"I don't want to comment on that," he replied, shortly. Robinson's attitude is typical of that of most of the Southern Democrats, save for the outer fringe of rabid drys who already are talking bolt if the party "goes wet" in 1932.

Story of a man who accidentally enlists in the army and is sent to France where a lot of mud and a top sergeant make life tough for him. Built for laughing purposes only.

Continues 1 to 11 P. M.

They, however, are distinctly in the minority.

The senate leader himself is regarded as a potential candidate for the nomination. By a good many he is regarded as a very formidable candidate. A Southerner and a dry, he ran on the ticket with Gov. Al Smith two years ago and made what the politicians call a good campaign. He endeared himself to the Smith wing of the party by the loyal support he gave to "Al" and at the same time sacrificed none of his normal dry support.

Refuses Comment
Robinson's refusal to comment on the modification phase of prohibition was held today as of considerable significance. It suggested that while the Southerners are prepared to wage strenuous battle against any plank for outright repeal of the Amendment, they may be willing to be "open-minded" about a plank that will be at least moist.

As against this attitude, however, there stands almost all the Democrats of the North. The Democratic party in virtually every state north of the Mason-Dixon line went completely wet during this year's campaign. The outstanding Northern candidates for the nomination all are for repeal of the Amendment. These are Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York, and Gov. Albert C. Ritchie of Maryland, to mention only two.

Whether the South will be able to check the North in the Democratic convention of '32 is problematical. The Northern Democrats don't believe they can be checked. But the Southerners for the time being at least are maintaining silence and keeping their powder dry.

Fail To Exhaust Coal In Century

One Eastern Anthracite Field
Has Been In Continuous Operation 100 Years

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 28.—Although it was opened nearly a century ago and has been operated almost continuously ever since, the Short Mountain Colliery at Lykens is still a rich field and is nowhere near exhaustion.

That was revealed here by A. S. McQueen, general sales manager for the concern which operates the mine.

The Lykens mine is believed by McQueen to be the deepest anthracite mine in the state. Its shaft goes down 1600 feet and from that point there is another slope descending 700 to a point 1300 feet below sea level.

McQueen, who recently completed a survey of the anthracite region, stated he could see nothing but a decidedly hopeful outlook for the anthracite industry.

Minor Injuries When His Car Is Wrecked

C. B. Mitche of 500 Neshannock boulevard, a shoe salesman, had a miraculous escape from death or serious injury, when his car skidded near Butler, Wednesday night, overturning twice.

Although the machine was badly damaged, Mr. Mitche suffered only minor bruises and scratches, and after being brought to Butler by passing motorists was able to return to his home here on the street car.

The machine skidded on an icy patch of roadway, and before he could regain control, hurtled into the ditch and overturned twice.

These experts used in court are the real thing. No mere amateur could make his theories fit either side for $500.

Check-Off System Will Be Revised

Find Boys Working In Collieries Have Been Paying Too Much

(International News Service)

SHAMOKIN, Pa., Nov. 28.—Readjustments in the present check-off system of collecting union dues in the anthracite region will be necessary because of over assessments from boys employed in collieries of the region. It was announced at the headquarters of District No. 9, United Mine Workers of America, here.

The check-off clause of the working agreement between the miners' union and coal operators called for the collection of $1.00 per month by the coal companies at their pay offices; money thus collected was to be turned over to the offices of the three anthracite district unions.

In working out the plan, however, both miners and operators forgot to take into consideration the assessment of half-dues, or 50 cents per month from boys working in the coal fields. Each pay day since the agreement has been operative, $1.00 has been collected from the boys' pay check and turned over to the union in the districts where the boys work. It then became necessary for the union officials to refund 50 cents per month to the boys. To eliminate the confusion resulting, union officials will authorize check-off clerks at pay offices to deduct 50 cents from the salaries of younger mine workers, district officials here announced.

In all other respects, the check-off system is working satisfactorily, it was stated.

Nation Awaits Hoover Message

Next Tuesday President Hoover Will Give Congress Important Message

IMPORTANT ISSUES WILL BE AIRE

By GEORGE E. DURO,
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28.—On next Tuesday—President Hoover will submit to the third session of the seventy-first congress a resume of his thoughts on national legislative needs which are based on the experience of a very turbulent year. After a month of work, he has it almost ready for the printer.

This annual message is awaited with more interest than has been manifested in years, largely because of a desire to learn definitely the Hoover ideas on two subjects that appeal to the popular public imagination far more than such vital, but drab topics as tariff, debenture and immigration.

Important Questions
The first question remains an enigma in advance of the presidential recommendations. It is the highly agitated problem of prohibition.

The second, Mr. Hoover largely has answered in advance, and quite forcibly. That is the question of curbing racketeering.

He denied he will propose any extension of federal laws to halt gang rule. What is needed, he says, is "a more wide-spread public awakening to the failure of some local governments to protect their citizens from murder, racketeering, corruption, and other crimes." He thinks it is a sad commentary that civic authorities can jail their racketeers only by calling in the federal government to prosecute them for failing to pay income taxes on the financial product of crime against state laws.

Some of the forecasters have argued the administration could carry this one step further and apply it to home brew. The country would then be in a state of "home option" rather than local option, they point out, and they back up their statements by pointing to the public remarks of Col. Amos W. W. Woodcock, new prohibition administrator, who has frowned on raids for either wine or beer if it has amateur standing.

Next Tuesday must tell the tale, however, insofar as prohibition is concerned. Al Capone, et al, have received advance information of a reliable nature on only half of their problems.

Has "Cow Catcher" For Automobiles

(International News Service)

MADRID, Nov. 28.—A device intended to protect careless pedestrians from being hit or run over by automobiles has just been tried out successfully, according to press reports. The device consists of a frame made of four solid rubber bars. The frame is secured to the front fender and can be unfolded at will by pressing a button within reach of the driver. When unfolded, the net will be stretched out in front of the radiator, and will prevent the pedestrians from coming into contact with the car itself.

The inventor claims that it has taken him three years to develop this apparatus. The municipal authorities are interested in it, and further tests will be made shortly.

Boy's Cooking Club Reveals Hidden Talent

They can cook and what is more—they can cook mightily, mightily good stuff.

Boys are speaking of—Benjamin Franklin junior high school boys. A news reporter saw them cooking chocolate corn starch pudding and sea foam candy the other day. The reporter sampled the sea foam and it was delicious, marvelous, luscious beyond description.

No, there is no regular daily boys' cooking club and it meets twice each month, under the supervision of Misses Mildred Gress, Marion Campbell and Margaret Reether.

Some lads are members of the boys' cooking club and without any exaggeration they are cooks a la splendide! Girls would have to keep jumping and very alert if they would sizzle bacon to that climax of deliciousness that these boys attain. "They get so excited," Miss Gress told the writer very, very confidentially. "Cooking is so very new to them, and they really are tremendously interested in it. They go at the process of cooking very differently from girls. They stir the ingredients with alarming rapidity, and when the finished product is before their eyes—well pride just glows from their faces!"

Last year a regular class in cooking was conducted for boys.

"Never have I seen such nicely fried eggs as last year's boys cooked," Miss Gress remarked. "They were not a bit awkward in the process of breaking the egg shells and pouring the egg into saucers, as a person would suppose they would be. And they knew how to cook the eggs to a turn."

These 20 defiers of tradition bring their own sugar to the club meetings, when candy is to be made. When their cooking is finished they are so enthusiastic about having a sample that they rarely will wait until the finished products are cool. They wade right in and in a few minutes—presto! all is gone.

Their instructors remark about the wonderful appetites of the lads. They are at loss to account for the fact that the boys will devour every drop or crumb of their cookings, whereas girls will peck leisurely away at it.

It is either because the food that the boys cook is so very extra tasty that they just have to eat it up or because the club meeting is held during the last period of the day and they are suffering from "empty stomachs." Or perhaps—it makes the dish washing a simpler task.

After all the cooking is done, the boys retire with their pans, saucers, stirring spoons, cups, etc., to the kitchen where they each wash their respective implements and dry them.

About the washing—the boys don't screw up their faces about that. In fact, strange as this may seem, they rather like it. Of course they aren't enthusiastic about it, but they don't do it so grudgingly as do the little females of Ben Franklin junior high.

And they dry dishes! They do good jobs of it! Sometimes they will spend a full 6½ minutes and shining one cup!

So here is a toast to the 20 boy cooks! They know their stuff and are mighty, mighty stiff competition for the girls.

"Spirits" Blamed For Ruining Marriage

(International News Service)

AKRON, O., Nov. 28.—Because his wife attended spiritual meetings and learned things about him that were not true, Raymond C. Tinsler of this city, has filed suit for divorce.

In his divorce petition, Tinsler, alleged that his wife, Elsie, came home and accused him of going around with other women after she heard the spirit messages. Once, he averred, she accused him of having a "date" with a blonde, and another time with a brunette.

To Halt Needless Radio Interference

(International News Service)

STURGIS, Mich., Nov. 28.—Determined to do away with all reasonably preventable radio interference, the Sturgis city council drafted an ordinance making such interference illegal between the hours of 6 p. m. and midnight.

Violation of the ordinance provides a fine of $50 or 30 days in jail, or both.

Father Is Killed In Auto Accident

FAIRMONT, W. Va., Nov. 28.—

An automobile bearing a party to a Thanksgiving dinner skidded over a 75-foot embankment today near Burton, killing Ray James Cover, 40, Canton, O. Cover's wife and two children were uninjured.

The Cover family left Canton for Mannington, where they planned to spend Thanksgiving with Mr. and Mrs. Robert Jamison. They were 11 miles from their destination when the accident occurred.

Mrs. Cover and the two children were thrown clear as the machine overturned. Cover was held behind the steering wheel. His neck was broken.

Girls Learn Housekeeping At Franklin Junior High

In addition to the many academic and commercial subjects studied by the girls of Benjamin Franklin junior high school, they are given a good, thorough course in housekeeping.

Housekeeping is an art and modern schools are recognizing the importance of the study. It is neither tedious nor difficult if done with the correct methods and those methods are taught by Miss Mildred Gress daily to the girls enrolled in this interesting study.

At the present time three eighth grade girls are spending part of their school time each day in the Benjamin Franklin model department. They clean it up, arrange the furniture, serve dinners, keep the kitchen and dining room just so, make the bed and in fact they do everything there is to be done in the average home.

It isn't just pure velvet either. There is work to it—plenty. For instance, the girls will spend some time in the pretty living room of the apartment in fixing every little pillow just where that particular little pillow looks best and arranging the furniture where it looks the nicest and is the most comfy.

But in an hour, two hours, is it the same. No, ma'am. And the work starts all over again.

The apartment is used, by the way. The model bed in the model bedroom is sometimes used when children become sick in school and are unable to be sent home.

The dining room is used every day, and hence the kitchen stove is going rather constantly. Eight members of the faculty have dinner in the model dining room. The menu is arranged by the girls of the model apartment, under the supervision of Miss Gress. It never exceeds the cost of $2.00 and each teacher pays 25 cents for the lunch.

The three eighth grade girls at dinner to act as hostess, waitress and cook.

It is great experience and a real preparation for the home life that they will lead upon leaving school.

Registration Is Continued

About 750 Unemployed In New Castle Have Registered

RELIEF COMMITTEE ISSUES STATEMENT

Seven hundred and thirty-one city residents and 85 from county points have registered as being unemployed or receiving part-time wages which are not sufficient to support families, according to a report announced at noon today by the mayor's relief committee. The registration will continue this afternoon and Saturday when it will close at city hall.

The report for Wednesday shows 531 city residents having registered and also 53 from the county. Today, until noon, 210 had registered from the city and 32 from county points.

In connection with the registration, the mayor's relief committee, which issued a statement as follows:

"The questions asked in the questionnaire have no bearing on the receiving of employment by anyone. These questions simply form a basis of filing. Each applicant will be given an equal opportunity to work with others in his classifications."

The statement came as a result, the mayor's committee spokesman said, from the report that some men who had real estate, free, mortgaged or an equity therein were under the impression the information was for tax purposes. The committee said this report is untrue.

Asked today if the city department of streets authorities would select workers for the Rural avenue grading and Meyer avenue storm projects, to be put through immediately, Stanley Trever, councilman, answered affirmatively. Workers will be recruited from the registration now under way, he said.

Council indicated today the workers would be paid at least 35 cents an hour and all hand labor will be employed. Other projects which may be put through are the widening of Neshannock Narrows, Taylor street or Butler avenue extension storm sewer and widening of East Washington street between County Line street and Butler avenue.

The registrars who worked Thursday today were augmented by Miss Elsie Johnson. They will continue to register today and between 9 a. m. and 5 p. m. Saturday when the registration will close and all persons, the committee announced, who have not registered should do so immediately or Saturday.

Bread Distributed, Baskets Given Out At Rescue Mission

Thanksgiving Made Cheerful Day For Multitude Of Needy Yesterday

Distributing several hundred loaves of bread to needy folks, and passing out about 20 baskets of foodstuffs to families whose cupboards were bare kept workers of the City Rescue Mission busily engaged all day Thanksgiving.

Transients stopping at Mission headquarters, South Mercer street were fed, if worthy. Hot coffee was provided to all.

The Mission's service for the month of November so far has included 2,000 meals furnished free of charge.

City May Open New Thoroughfare

Council met in the city building today and adopted two motions presented by Councilman Reeves regarding a thoroughfare from East Washington street through Jackson Park to Cunningham avenue.

The first motion requested the city engineer to prepare plans, specifications and provide an estimate of cost of the opening and the second motion provided for the opening.

Jackson park formerly was known as the Old Stone church cemetery and is located on the south side of East Washington street between Florence and West avenue.

Says Governor Has No Power To Give Pardon

In the opinion of Attorney J. I. Simon of Pittsburgh, Irene Schroeder and Glenn Dague have but one chance left for commutation of their death sentence and that one chance is the Pardon Board. According to Attorney Simon the constitution prohibits the governor of the State of Pennsylvania from granting a pardon of commutation unless the Pardon Board makes such recommendation.

Section 9 of Article of the Constitution of Pennsylvania is the controlling law, according to Simon.

This reads as follows: "He (the governor) shall have power to remit fines and forfeitures to grant reprieves, commutations of sentence and pardons, except in cases of impeachment, but no pardon shall be granted, nor sentence commuted, except from the recommendation in writing of the lieutenant governor, secretary of the commonwealth, attorney general and secretary of internal affairs, or any three of them, after full hearing upon due public notice and in open session, and such recommendation, with the reasons therefor at length, shall be recorded and filed in the office of the secretary of the commonwealth."

Because of the fact that a new governor and lieutenant governor will take office in January, it is highly probable that any appeal for commutation will have to go through the new Pardon Board. The present Pardon Board is made up of Lieutenant Governor Arthur H. James, Attorney General William Schnader, and Secretary of Internal Affairs James H. Woodward.

The new Pardon Board will be headed by Lieutenant-general, who will likely be the present one, Mr. Schnader and Secretary of Internal Affairs James H. Woodward, as term as secretary not expiring until May, 1931.

The interpretation of Attorney Simon may be correct, although there have been occasions when the governor has issued pardons without the sanction of the Pardon Board. The pardon of Albert Carelli the Blue Bandana Bandit by Governor Pinchot in his first administration is an example of this, it is said.

Seal Sale Is Underway

Thousands Of Citizens Will Receive Tuberculosis Stamps Sent This Morning

Between 7000 and 8000 citizens of Lawrence county will receive in the mail today envelopes containing allotments of 100 Christmas tuberculosis seals.

The Lawrence County Tuberculosis Society has mailed the envelopes containing between 750,000 and 800,000 penny tuberculosis seals and it hopes that this year's sale will surpass all previous sales.

The greatest percentage of the proceeds from the sale will remain in this county to be used in taking care of tuberculosis victims and in preventing the disease to progress with others.

Daughter Benefits In Porter's Will

Late Congressman Porter, Left $3,000 To His Daughter, Disclosed Today

(International News Service) PITTSBURGH, Nov. 28.—Congressman Stephen Porter of Pittsburgh, left an estate of $3,000 to his daughter, Mrs. Lucy Porter Barron of Newport, R. I., according to the terms of his will filed for probate today.

Relatives were unable to locate the will after Porter's death June 27 last. Letters of administration were granted by the orphans court.

The will filed today was discovered recently in a safe deposit box which Porter held at Washington and bore the date of May 12, 1920.

Frances M. Blankenship was named guardian for the daughter who in 1920 was a minor. Mrs. Barron was named executrix in the document.

Br-r-r! winter is here!

What to do about colds

MEDICAL men have come to an interesting conclusion about colds. They say that lubrication of the nasal passages prevents deadly germs from getting a foothold. Interesting to Mr. Average Man, because this is something he can do for himself with the doctor's full sanction.

Every night before retiring introduce a little "Vaseline" Petroleum Jelly into the nostrils. It's absolutely safe. It coats the delicate nasal membranes and protects them.

Equally good for the throat, too. Just take half a teaspoonful, if your throat is husky or irritated. Feel the relief. And don't worry about swallowing it. That's good for you because it has a slightly laxative effect. Just what you need if you feel a cold coming on.

Maybe you can go through the whole winter without getting colds if you'll only take this simple, safe precaution. Get a jar or tube of "Vaseline" Jelly now. It costs only a few cents at the nearest drug store.

Offers Amendment For Boulder Dam

(International News Service) WASHINGTON, Nov. 28.—Representative Swing (R.) of California, announced today he will introduce a bill which Congress meets next week to amend the Boulder Dam act by making it compulsory to give preference to workmen who are American citizens.

"As a means of relieving the unemployment situation," he said, "I am in favor of giving preference to American citizens in all government projects, but I am particularly interested in seeing that only American citizens be employed on the Boulder Dam project."

Cleveland Pilot Reported Missing

Fear Felt For Safety Of Flier Who Left Hamilton, Ontario, For Cleveland, Ohio

(International News Service) CLEVELAND, Nov. 28.—Fear for the safety of William Griffin, Cleveland pilot, who took off from Hamilton, Ont., Tuesday for this city, was expressed today by officials of Cleveland airport.

Superintendent John Berry of the airport said he had not been notified of Griffin's take-off until today, and that he feared the flier had been forced down in the blinding snow storms which have raged through this section for the last four days.

Griffin planned to fly from Hamilton to Buffalo and then to Cleveland, officials here learned. They said he has not been heard from since leaving Hamilton Tuesday.

Man Arrested Here Held In Youngstown

Faces Several Robbery Charges—Under Bond Of $20,000 Now

In the arrest here on last Friday night at an East Washington street home, the police of this city effected the capture of a former local man, who according to the Youngstown authorities is a man wanted for several crimes in that city.

The man arrested was Robert Shaffer, alias Roscoe Shaffer, aged 30, a resident of this city for many years. His arrest here was made by Lieutenant Peter Hillers, Detective C. G. Logan and Officer Robert Dukes. An unloaded gun was found in his possession.

His arrest was made on information furnished by the Youngstown police relative to some highway robberies there and further information secured by Detectives O'Hara and Reed of Youngstown, in conjunction with Detective John Young and Officer Thomas Lynch of this city prior to the arrest.

It was thought for a time that he might have been implicated in the robbery at the Abraham Shapiro store on Moravia street, and Anna Spanish, a clerk in that store was at mayor's court, the morning following the arrest but could not identify him.

At a hearing held yesterday in municipal court at Youngstown, he waived a hearing on charges of highway robbery and was held for the grand jury under $20,000 bond. He had been previously identified by Myron Solinsky, whom he held up at Elm and Dennie street, Youngstown, and robbed of $75. He was also identified by others for his alleged connection with the robbery of a dry cleaning establishment, the Isaly Company store and others.

According to the police he had been making his headquarters here and been going over into Youngstown and perpetrating the robberies for which he is now held.

ROBBERY ATTEMPTED ON SAMPSON STREET

Two men entered the store of Mike Wester, 305 Sampson street, Wednesday night and demanded his money. Wester pushed a button ringing a bell in his home adjoining his store and this caused the holdup men to become frightened and they left hurriedly without securing anything for their efforts. The police were notified and rushed to the scene, but were unable to find any trace of the holdup men.

Bo-Broadway

by JOSEPH VAN RAALTE

By Central Press
NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—Old G. K. Chesterton says that when the modern sets out to reform a thing he usually reforms it for the wrong reason.

My kick against the modern reformer, so active in Tammany Town today, is that he seems incapable of leveling his lance against anything more dangerous and important, than a Stuffed Shirt.

WHAT SHALL IT BE

With the financial situation wobbling on the Thin Blue Line that separates the pathetic from the ridiculous, members of the Regional Plan of New York are lying awake nights worrying about the cockeyed architecture of the average Hottee Doggie Stands and Ye Olde Gasoline Pumps that dot Tammany Town and its environs.

Their chief kick is against the gingerbread filling station. They have issued a pamphlet on the subject in which they say:

"It is doubtful whether it is not better from the esthetic point of view, to have a plain, bald gas pump, than some of the Greek temples and other 'artistic' solutions of the problem. It is obvious that the design of buildings relating to this industry should have some relation to the purpose rather than affix wedding cake ornaments on the surface to hide this purpose."

PRESENT DAY NEEDS

The boys and girls of the Regional Plan are doing a noble work in trying to revamp the architecture of the average filling station; and far be it from me to discourage art. But why not wait till things settle down a little before beginning to find fault with the facade of the gas station? What we need just now, more than anything in the world, is somebody who will come along and insure things so that we'll all be able to go on buying gasoline, no matter what kind of architecture camouflages the bald-headed pump.

When the house is on fire an architect won't be of much assistance unless he happens to be a volunteer fireman.

THE NEW CUSTOM

When everyone else appears to be oblivious of my presence on earth—when all the world am sad and dreary—I seek solace by recalling that in the consciousness of One Man, at least, my image is ever fresh and green.

That man is none other than Charlie Roland, Pancake Panegyrist par excellence for Mrs. Childs Gridle Grills.

Charlie flashed me a communicative day before yesterday directing my attention to a custom that has come into vogue of varsity football teams invading alien territory, marching in a body to the local Bean Bazaar of Charlie's boss.

And he ends his letter to me, thus:

"When next you go polo playing try Childs. It will spur your horsemanship, tremendously."

My horsemanship needs no spur, Mr. Roland. But the suggestion gives me an idea. Before my next match game of golf I shall step into one of your boss' Sausage Salons and there, wrap myself around a few yards of the best wurst.

Believe me, Charles, there's nothing so improves a man's golf as a few links of sausage before the game.

WHAT A BOON!

A local pet shop has on exhibition

a parrot with a vocabulary of 300 words.

What a blessing it would be if some were verbally confined! With most of us, our minds have never been polished to the degree of brilliance that matches our vocabularies.

If writers were limited to a carefully selected vocabulary of 300 words, we'd soon master the gentle art of turning in our own length—saying in a paragraph what it now takes a column to tell.

Out in Arizona one afternoon I encountered the ludicrous spectacle of an Indian squaw, clad in cowboy breeches and a blanket, being thrown out of the local five-and-ten-cent store for swiping a pair of blood-red, elastic sleeve bands.

That seemed to me the farthest south in the ridiculous until the other day here, in New York I heard tell of a gypsy, chased by the police, eluding his pursuers by taking flight in a taxicab.

How is champagne made?

The making of champagne demands the highest degree of skill and care. The grapes are gathered with scissors, the defective berries are cut off, the fruit removed to the press with as little bruising as possible and pressed quickly to avoid the extraction of an excess of tannin and coloring matter. After vigorous fermentation subsides, the wine is racked into barrels, blended for the desired flavor, and removed to the cold cellar where it is again racked in December. In March or April it is removed to the fermenting room and sugar added. As soon as fermentation starts, more sugar as a syrup is added and the wine decanted usually into tightly corked strong bottles which are placed neck downward in an inclined position. When ripe, the bottle is given a gentle rotary movement, the cork drawn, the sediment which collects in the neck destructively removed, a small quantity of sweetened and flavored liquor added, and the bottle quickly corked.

What is marcasite?

Marcasite is an iron disulphide that crystallizes in the orthorhombic system. It has a metallic lustre, is of pale bronze yellow color, and resembles pyrite, from which it differs only in crystal form. It is found in Bohemia, Saxony, Hungary and the United States. It is a mineral.

Was a president of the United States ever impeached? If so, for what reason?

Andrew Johnson, seventeenth president of the United States, was impeached by the house of representatives for having removed without the consent of the senate E. M. Stanton, secretary of war, and on other charges including corrupt use of the veto power, interference at elections and high crimes and misdemeanors. He was tried by the U. S. senate March 30, May 26, 1868, which voted 35 for conviction, 19 for acquittal; but as two-thirds vote was necessary for conviction, the verdict was acquittal.

INVENT AUTOMATIC PARACHUTE RELEASE

(International News Service)

CARDIFF, Nov. 28.—An invention which may save many lives and may prove to be what airmen have long been needing has been made by two Welshmen, V. J. Gould and S. F. Bond.

It is an automatic release for parachutes which is claimed to be infallible because it needs only wind resistance to operate it. The release can be adapted to any type of parachute and is worked on the fan principle. Wind resistance sets the fan in motion which in turn sets the release instrument working. The time taken for the parachute to open and take up its load has been timed at under twelve seconds.

Blue Star Club Members Meet

Children's Library Club Meets
At Library; Cinderella Play Is Planned

Thirty juvenile readers, all members of the Blue Star club of the children's department of the New Castle free public library, met in the library building on Tuesday evening after school, with Miss Alice Joyce, the children's librarian.

After Miss Joyce told the youngsters of how they should take care of books and after an interesting account of how a book is made, she recounted some animal stories.

It was decided at this meeting that a playlet "Cinderella" will be presented in the children's room on December 10, and all Blue Star club members are invited to attend.

The cast was chosen as follows: Cinderella—Rose Green. Fairy Godmother—Jean Williams. Mother—Mary Mescall. Two sisters—Mildred Parrish and Sophie Jaworsky.

The 30 children who gathered at the library Tuesday evening were those who have been awarded blue stars on their borrower's cards for having shown their capability in taking care of new library books.

not letting the books get torn or soiled. "Cinderella" the play will be open to every club member, whether he has his blue star or not.

Savants Clash On French Name For Grapefruit

Finally Decide Against Using American Name For Fruit

(International News Service)

PARIS, Nov. 28.—The humble yellow grapefruit came in for a heated discussion under the dome made famous by Napoleon recently. It is not often that the meetings of the serious members of the French Academy for the purpose of revising the dictionary are marked by exciting incidents, but the last one was the exception.

Should it be the American grapefruit or the French "pamplemousse" that would find its way into the big book of words? This was the center of the fight. The forty Immortals weighed both of them heavily and argued their respective merits.

A well-known lawyer, Henri Robert, was decidedly in favor of "Pamplemousse", declaring that it evoked sweet dreams in faraway exotic islands, while grapefruit—"why, grapefruit actually gives me the itch!"

"Pamplemousse! It is a delicious word," said George Lecomte, French poet. "It speaks to the spirit, to the imagination and if you are at all sensitive to harmony, you will find it far superior to any other synonym."

Since the majority would not agree to the proposed change, "pamplemousse" remains "pamplemousse" and not grapefruit in the dictionary that stands for the highest purity of the French language.

Splintering and breaking of the hair ends, as a rule, the result of too vigorous brushing of abnormally dry hair. It is not an indication of any disease.

The idea of singeing the ends of these split hairs, because it closes the pores, the hair and keeps the oil in, is nonsense. There are no pores or pores through the center of hairs, and no oil circulates inside the hair itself.

Dandruff is simply the scales from the scalp. Some people have more of these scales than others. There are several stages or degrees of the condition, and in its most exaggerated form it is a real disease—called tinea capitis or dermatitis. In these cases there may be crusts on the scalp.

In all severe cases of dandruff should be treated by frequent cleansing and the application of a mild antiseptic solution.

Ships Exhibits To French Exposition

U. S. To Send Replicas Of Mt. Vernon And Other Old Mansions

(International News Service) WASHINGTON, Nov. 28.—Fabricated and marked for assembling in Paris after less than two weeks of day and night activity, the greater part of an exact copy of the world famous Washington manor at Mt. Vernon, and two large exhibition halls of American Colonial design, are now on the high seas bound for France to house the official American exhibits at the French international exposition which opens next May.

American exhibits in these buildings will mark the nation's colonial expansion, including Alaska and Panama, the early colonization of this continent, and the march of the American population westward to the Pacific. Congress has appropriated $250,000 for the purpose. Great Britain, Italy, Belgium, the Netherlands, Portugal and Denmark also will participate.

The American building must be completed before March 1. Plans for the Mt. Vernon replica were approved by President Hoover and the State department on October 8, with the stipulation that only American materials and equipment should be used.

In the initial shipment are 110,000 feet of American lumber, each piece cut and numbered to identify its place according to detailed architectural plans and specifications. Much of this represents specially manufactured work, reproducing exactly the carved mantels, moldings and trim and the exterior ornamentation of the Mt. Vernon mansion.

Cold Brings Forth Stored Ear Muffs

Prove Boon To Spectators Who Sat Through Entire Turkey Day Game

Jack Frost got too nasty Thanksgiving day, so out on the scene appeared several warm, comforting pairs of ear muffs on spectators who braved the cold to watch New Castle and Turtle Creek play.

Probably five pairs were observed at the stadium, while another was seen downtown. Popularity for them ascended to a high peak, and others minus them were rightfully jealous.

One pair was observed downtown today.

Edison Will Get Medal From Pope

Two Members Of Government In France Resign

(International News Service) PARIS, Nov. 28.—With possibility of the Tardieu cabinet's overthrow in the offing, two members of the government submitted their resignations today as a parliamentary investigation got under way into the scandal of the $38,000,000 Oustic bank failure.

They were Eugene Lautier and Henri Falcoz, under-secretaries for fine arts and public works respectively. They announced they had resigned to "save the government from embarrassment" when they are called as witnesses in the Oustic investigation. They admitted they were clients of the banking chain, which failed with huge losses to investors a few weeks ago.

Wind Hampers Hop For Two Airmen

(International News Service) WASHINGTON, Nov. 28.—Joseph Jones, 18, and Edward Wingerter, 25, who left Caldwell, N. J., Monday for a 6,000 mile flight to South America, will attempt to get a wee bit nearer their destination today with a short hop to Quantico, Va.

"There's a 35-mile-an-hour headwind sweeping over our course right now," Jones said, "but we will try to get off sometime today." The fliers have been battling unfavorable winds ever since their start Monday, that night the weather forced them down on a farmer's field 20 miles from Baltimore and kept them there until Wednesday when they took off for this city.

Warns Public Against Fake Cancer Cures

New York Cancer Committee Says Two Hundred Are Reported Yearly

MANY VIRTUES ARE CLAIMED OF MACHINE

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—Two hundred new so-called cancer "cures" are reported every year.

There are approximately 10,000 of these cancer "cures" listed. These estimates are given by the New York City Cancer Committee. Among the specific cases listed the following are typical of the 1930 crops of "cures."

A machine for curing cancer which is also reported to cure the blind and lame.

A salve applied to the affected parts: in a day or so, according to the claim, "the cancer drops out something like corn cures."

A secret preparation which "positively removes external cancer."

Worst Form of Cruelty
"Cancer quackery," the committee said "is perhaps the worst form of human cruelty. The patient is led to expect that a cure is possible. Often by the time he is through with the charlatan's treatment, all possibility of his recovery by the only two scientific methods of treatment known—surgery and radiation—has passed."

"Once in every 80,000 cases, a cancer will disappear of itself for no reason known to science. But this disappearance, although it may coincide with a 'sure cure' treatment, has no relation to the treatment whatsoever."

"Three years ago, two $50,000 prizes were offered for the discovery of methods for the prevention and cure of cancer. Although about 5,000 'cures' were received by the American Society for the Control of Cancer, only three or four had any sound value in furthering study of the disease and these came from experts in the scientific field of cancer work."

"The hope of the cancer patient at the present time lies in early diagnosis by microscopic examination and prompt and proper treatment by surgery, X-ray and radium."

"Dr. Benjamin Rice Shore, assistant attending surgeon at St. Luke's Hospital, New York, in an article published in the Journal of the Medical Association on May 26, 1929, reported that only 50 per cent of the patients with cancer applying at St. Luke's Hospital were found to be in an operable condition at the time they were first seen by the physicians. Many of the hopeless cases would have had a chance for escape had they presented themselves sooner, and had they realized what delay meant they would certainly have done so."

Belief In Gypsy Results Fatally

(International News Service)
COLUMBIA, Ia., Nov. 28.—Isabelle Watson, 18-year-old school girl, went to a Gypsy fortune teller camped near the town and asked to have her fortune told. The Gypsy muttered of a black future for her and wound up by saying: "You've been sick for two years, and you never will get well. You would be better off dead."

Many Children Are Listed In Germany

(International News Service)
BERLIN, Nov. 28.—Westphalia western province, and site of the most important German industries, seems to be the best ground in Germany for growing children.

According to a census taken by the Provincial Insurance Board with a view to grant prizes to fifty of the largest families, there are three families with nineteen children each, two families with eighteen, eleven with seventeen, fifteen with sixteen, seventeen with fifteen and two families with fourteen children. The total of children of these fifty families is 900, of whom 803 are alive. Twenty-five families live in the country and the other half in industrial centers. Of the fathers twenty are workers, eighteen farm hands, eight handcraftsmen and four lower government employees.

The Insurance Board granted an insurance of sixty dollars to the youngest child in each family.

Beards Return To Modern Russia

(International News Service)
LONDON, Nov. 28.—Modern Russia is full of beards, according to a Riga dispatch to the London Daily Mail.

The chief reason for the increase of facial foliage under the Soviet, the dispatch said, is the impossibility of obtaining shaving requirements. Approximately $75 duty is charged on two dozen razor blades, while $150 duty is demanded on two pounds of shaving soap.

The Soviet satirical weeklies are making great capital out of the return of the beard, the message declared. Beards, according to these organs, not only obviate the necessity of wearing neckties, but also they hide a dirty shirt and act as a chest protector.

An added reason for the whisker increase is declared to be that in present-day Russia it is considered bourgeois to be clean-shaven.

Porcupine Damage Menace To Trees

(International News Service)
OGDEN, Utah, Nov. 28.—Porcupines still cause considerable damage to trees in the west in spite of a persistent campaign on the part of rangers to exterminate the pests.

One government forest ranger in the Fishlake national forest, E. L. Cox, has killed 190 porcupines this year. Last year he brought down 193.

In the higher altitudes porcupines are commonly seen in bands of from ten to thirty. They eat the bark from coniferous trees and in this way do great damage.

Instances where entire forests of western yellow pine have been destroyed in this manner have been observed.

Part Time Jobs Help Girls Work Through School

By RICHARD W. RANDOLPH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

DENVER, Nov. 28.—Part-time occupations ranging all the way from whistling to scrubbing floors are being followed by women students in Colorado institutions of higher learning, according to reports received from deans of women.

One student at the Colorado Women's college in Denver has paid most of her college expenses by whistling over the radio.

A Denver university girl who is a graduate nurse works in a Denver hospital and still finds time to take more than the average amount of hours required of school work.

At Fort Collins two girl students of the Colorado Agriculture college run their own beauty shop and earn all their expenses by profiting from the vanity of their school friends.

An original young co-ed attending the state university at Boulder turned a particularly vivid imagination to account by writing stories for a magazine. She got $75 a month.

Several girls attending the State Teacher's College at Greeley have built up a large and lucrative business catering for private families. They will select the menu buy the food, cook it, decorate the table and serve the meal. They are in great demand for parties and are able to charge their own price for their work.

In every college community in the state there are girls who earn a part of their expenses by doing housework or caring for children for part of the day. Typing, telephoning and library work also occupy the time of working co-eds.

Must Be In At Nine For Two More Years

(International News Service)
ALFRED, Me., Nov. 28.—Curfew rings tonight and for 729 more nights as well, for Roland Latellier of Biddeford—and he'd better heed it, says the law.

The 20-year-old youth pleaded nolo to a charge of automobile larceny in superior court here today and after imposing a probationary jail sentence Judge G. Emery informed him that if he ventured out of doors during the next two years after the clock strikes 9 p. m. it would be just too bad.

Capt. Campbell To Seek World's Auto Speed Record At Daytona

(International News Service)
LONDON, Nov. 28.—Captain Malcolm Campbell, in an amazing new "Blue Bird" car which he has just built will challenge all contenders for the world's speed record next January.

Incidentally he hopes not only to beat Sir Henry Seagrave's record of 231.3 miles per hour, but to establish a new figure which will not be surpassed for years to come.

Reports that two American cars were to make a serious attack on Seagrave's achievement stirred up Campbell in the early part of this year. He learned that Paul was to drive a Packard, fitted with two 2,500 h. p. engines, and that another freak car with four Liberty engines, would also compete. It had also been stated that an Australian car, with a Napier supercharged engine, would make a similar attempt.

Campbell started immediately to build a new "Blue Bird." For nine months the work has been going on under conditions of the utmost secrecy, and now the car is nearing completion.

Beyond the fact that it is 25 ft. in length, and so low that the top of the driver's head will be only 42 inches from the ground, Campbell refuses to disclose any details of his car's design. He claims that wind-tunnel tests had yielded results promising speeds even beyond his and the designer's hopes.

He declares himself ready to make his attempt either at Daytona Beach, South Africa, or on Ninety-mile Beach, Christchurch, New Zealand.

As a matter of fact he will probably take his car to Daytona in the first week of January next. And with him he will also take a number of British light cars, which he will run over the beach at top speed with the idea of showing the United States what the British motor trade is manufacturing.

The Australian attempt will be made by Norman Smith, before the end of this year, at Ninety-Mile Beach. The engine of his car was destined for use in the Schneider Cup races and has been lent to him by the British Government.

The machine was designed by Don Harkness, well-known Australian engineer, and measures 30 ft. in length from tip to tail and has an abnormally wide track.

Norman Smith predicts that he will make easily a speed of 275 m. p. h. over the measured mile. He aims at the attempt before either Campbell or the American challengers are ready.

Criminal Caught In Canary Murder

(International News Service)
BURNET, Texas, Nov. 28.—"There's a thief in this house," Edward Schnabel observed when he was awakened about daylight, "and from the sound of things he is eating his breakfast."

Whereupon Schnabel arose, armed himself and sought the burglar. What he found was a good-sized mouse snake coiled complacently in a bird cage which had been occupied by two but was now occupied by one canary.

Even as he watched, Schnabel saw the other canary in the cage disappear. After which the snake was neatly caught, because his middle protrude so far he couldn't get out between the bars of the cage.

from the city, are now considered to form one of the finest units in the world. They cost more than $2,000, and employ a permanent staff of over 250 persons.

Films in 10 major European languages are turned out here, making this center one of international eminence.

Roll Call Is Brought To End

Final Report Will Be Rendered Soon In Recent Membership Renewal

Thanksgiving Day brought to a close one of the most successful Roll Calls held by the Lawrence County Chapter, American Red Cross, in some time.

Final reports are now being received from the workers in the rural districts, which should be turned in immediately. Chairman Clarence A. Patterson of the local chapter states.

National headquarters of the R. I. Cross desires a report of the total memberships by December 3, in order that they may take stock of their resources and plan for the emergencies expected during the coming winter. Remittance of funds has been requested by them on December 10.

In order to comply with this request Chairman Patterson asks that all workers send in their reports as soon as conveniently possible.

As soon as possible, a report will be made public of the receipts secured by the Chapter through the Roll Call.

Cold Weather Finds County Highways In Excellent Condition

Eight Inches Of Snow In Mercer County Starts Operation Of Six Trucks

Despite zero-like weather and abundant snowfall in this section of the state this week, Lawrence county highways are in excellent condition. H. W. Lightner, State Highway Department superintendent in Lawrence and Mercer counties announced this morning.

Cinders were placed Wednesday evening on all state roads that were bad for the motorists Lightner said. Eight inches of snow in Mercer county on Thanksgiving necessitated the operation of six department trucks for the removal of snow. There was a much lighter snow fall in this county and only two trucks were used to clear highways. A truck was put in operation on the Perry highway near Harlansburg and another on route 80, between New Castle and New Wilmington.

Pile Sufferers

'End Your Misery Without Salves or Cutting'

External treatments cannot permanently end Piles. Nor does cutting remove the cause.

The cause is internal—bad circulation of the blood in the lower bowel. The veins are flabby—the bowel walls weak—the parts almost dead. To quickly and safely rid yourself of piles an internal medicine must be used to heal and strengthen the affected parts.

Dr. J. S. Leonhardt, a specialist, after years of study discovered a real internal Pile remedy. He named his prescription HEM-ROID, and prescribed it for 1000 patients, with the marvelous record of success in 960 cases, and then decided every Pile sufferer should be able to get HEM-ROID from their own druggist.

Don't waste time on external remedies or think of the pain and expense of an operation until you have tried HEM-ROID. McKee's or Eckert's of New Castle, Inc. will supply you and guarantee money-back if it does not end all Pile misery.

Small Boy Saves Brother's Life

(International News Service) DENVER, Nov. 28.—A five-year-old Denver boy, to whom fire prevention training had apparently meant something, saved the life of his three year old brother and probably prevented his home from complete destruction.

Richard Junkie, five, was ill in bed. His mother had gone to the store and his father was at work. His little brother, Robert, was at play in the same room. Robert evidently had some matches among his playthings. Fire was suddenly seen to break forth from his bed and carried his brother to safety. Then he ran for his mother.

Before leaving the room Richard carefully closed the doors to prevent a draft.

Regrets Kindness Shown By "Sweetie"

HARRISBURG, Nov. 28.—John Baylor, 21 year old negro was arrested and went to jail here in default of a $25 fine.

Then his sweetheart came in, paid the fine, and John was released.

Soon after, John appeared, breathless, at the jail.

"Colonel," said he to Police Sergeant Hollands, "that girl of mine was foolish to pay that money. It ain't worth $25 to be out of jail. Now suppose you just give me that $25 and put me back in the old cell."

Hollands explained there were no refunds in the fineing business and that some other customer probably had John's cell by that time. John retired, mumbling of a "raw deal."

Victim in N. Y. Triple Killing

Mrs. Dorothy Foster, estranged wife of a New York policeman, was shot dead by Frank Masone, of Yonkers, N. Y., when the latter went on a rampage enraged by the thought that she had been untrue to him. Masone also killed Dorothy's foster sister, Marie O'Connor, and ended the orgy of blood by killing himself.

Athletic Stars Have Low Physical Rating

Football Men Found Lacking In Arm And Shoulder Strength

(International News Service) DENVER, Col., Nov. 28.—Some of the outstanding athletic stars in Denver's senior high schools are in the fourth and lowest rating physically, according to a preliminary survey recently completed by Willard N. Greim, director of health education in the public schools.

Of the total of 7,000 students examined between 70 and 80 per cent were found to be deficient in arm and shoulder strength.

The tests are being carried out entirely separate from the regular physical examinations of students. All students are rated in one of four groups: A, B, C and D.

"Physical training for the pupils is compulsory," Greim said. "It therefore seems logical to classify them as to strength capacity so that each will receive the work he most requires. The classification is particularly in most respects, with that already in force for mental training."

The tests however, have nothing to do with picking football material. Greim explained that the reason some of the football players received a low rating was because of their weight. He found that heavier students were often deficient in arm and shoulder strength and most of the football players are heavier than the average.

Thirty-Eight Cases On Argument List

Study Value Of Fly Larvae For Healing

Certain Kinds of Insects Found Beneficial in Wound Treatment

FIRST DISCOVERED
DURING WORLD WAR

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 28.—Use of flies by the medical profession in treating wounds and bone inflammations may soon prove successful, according to scientists of the Department of Agriculture.

Investigations are now being made, which, if successful, will lead to the commercial propagation of certain kinds of flies for this purpose.

The new treatment with larvae of two or three kinds of flies, none of which is to be associated with the common house fly, is the outgrowth of an accidental discovery by Dr. William S. Baer, former army surgeon, and now with Johns Hopkins University. Having observed in France two soldiers brought in after lying for seven days on the battle fields with their wounds heavily infested with fly larvae but healing unusually well, Baer pondered the incident for 10 years while treating many patients suffering from osteomyelitis.

This disease, more common in children than in adults, is the inflammation of the bone which results in flesh infections. It is hard to cure and if allowed to become chronic often lingers for years.

About two years ago Baer tried the larval treatment on a few of his patients and some of the chronic cases were cured within six weeks. All children and four-fifths of the adults were cured.

To prevent larvae from introducing injurious bacteria into the wounds, the eggs from which they are hatched are first disinfected by dipping them in a solution of bichloride of mercury. Little is known about the actual benefits contributed by the little healers, but Baer is of the opinion that they serve as living disinfectants.

The success of Baer's experiments and the large number of cases throughout the country to which this treatment is adapted have created a demand for larvae. Entomologists of the Department of Agriculture are interested not only in finding methods of propagating large numbers of these species of flies as sanitary conditions as possible but also in devising accurate means of identifying larvae as members of the proper species before they are used.

Scottish Girl May Be Named A Saint

(International News Service)
GLASGOW, Nov. 28.—A humble Scottish girl, Margaret Sinclair, is likely to be canonized by the pope as a saint in the near future.

Margaret died a couple of years ago, and Roman Catholic bishops and priests are about to meet in Edinburgh to consider the evidence submitted by people in all parts of Britain and Ireland who knew her and who assert that she benefited miraculously through her intercession.

The ecclesiastical finding and report to the pope will determine whether or not she will be beatified and canonized.

Margaret was a humble working girl of Edinburgh, who is credited with having performed her ordinary duties in supernatural fashion during her life as a nun in the Franciscan Order.

Should this Scottish girl become a saint she will be the first of her sex in Scotland to be canonized for nearly 700 years. The last was Queen Margaret, who was made a saint in 1250.

Police Confused By Street Names

(International News Service)
AKRON, O., Nov. 28.—Legislation for the changing of several street names has been instigated in city council here by Safety Director H. H. Arnold, to save confusion on the part of policemen in the radio cruisers.

Arnold told the council that the policemen were handicapped in getting correct addresses in emergency calls, because many street names are similar in sound. Many times, he said, the policemen have to telephone back to headquarters to find out where they are supposed to go.

Majority Of Two Votes Landslide

(International News Service)
COUNCIL BLUFFS, Ia., Nov. 28.—Justice of the Peace Jack DeWitt of Lewis township was swept into office with a majority of only two votes but friends and campaign workers regarded the election as a landslide for him. There will be no recount.

County Auditor George B. Sparks is trying to figure out just who cast the second ballot, conceding that the nominee voted for himself.

There were only two votes cast.

NOVELTY DANCE IS RAGE IN ENGLAND

(International News Service)
LONDON, Nov. 28.—"Do-You-Mind?" dance is the latest rage in all the fashionable ballrooms in the West End of London.

The introduction of this novelty dance is intended to relieve the monotony of modern dancing. It can be danced to any tune and consists of an exchange of partners by couples at any given moment. The orchestra indicates the appropriate intervals from these changes by a crash on the cymbals.

The-Do-You-Mind? dance affords the opportunity of dancing with a number of different partners without introduction and yet without committing a breach of the proprieties.

Greedy Ducks Ruin Anticipated Sport

(International News Service)
RALEIGH, N. C., Nov. 28.—Ducks prefer three meals a day to freedom.

W. E. Corey and several other wealthy sportsmen for two years had been raising wild ducks at Currituck Sound, N. C. At least, they hoped the ducks would be wild.

The flock grew until it numbered 3,800. Then Corey and his friends gathered around with shotguns for the big sport for which they had waited for two years.

They opened the pens. The ducks walked calmly out. "Shoo!" everybody yelled.

But the ducks wouldn't shoo. They stayed around. "We won't feed 'em for a day or two, then they'll fly," Corey said.

But all the hungry ducks did was to keep the sportsmen awake all night with their quacking. The next morning, the birds, quacking for food, followed Corey and his friends around like dogs. They still wouldn't fly.

If anyone knows, the answer to what makes ducky fly, postcard W. E. Corey.

MARRIED THREE DAYS THEN ASKS DIVORCE

Don't Cough and Sneeze All Winter

If you catch a cold easily and are coughing and sneezing for weeks on end, it is a sure sign that you are in a weakened, run-down condition. Doping your cold won't help. That merely leads to a false sense of security. Take Father John's Medicine instead. Then you are not only helping to break your cold right up, but you are building up the system to throw off the poisons that are keeping you sick. This simple food medicine contains vitamins that promote health and strength and increase resistance to disease. Take it regularly and colds will be few and far between. Thousands have proved this for over seventy-five years. Just ask your druggist.

Export Trade Of Denver Important

(International News Service)
DENVER, Nov. 28.—The growing importance of Denver manufacturing in the foreign export field was brought to the attention of Denver business men recently by the Denver office of the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce, which gave out figures showing that Denver exports had increased 18 per cent since 1927, although the gain for the United States was only eight per cent.

Denver last year, according to the bureau, shipped exports valued at $4,403,149. More than ten of the firms did an export business of $10,000 or more.

The bureau listed 59 Denver firms which did export business last year. Canada and Mexico were the principal users of Denver made goods. More than 100 countries received merchandise made in Denver.

"In discussing future possibilities for the expansion of export trade," the report stated, "foreign trade experts consider that this region produces products for which there is a world-wide demand and this demand will increase as years go by."

Americans Seen Victims Of Dark Jungle Beliefs

Witchcraft Believed Responsible For Death Of Several

LETTERS SHOW TRYING TIMES

(International News Service)
WORCESTER, Mass., Nov. 28.—The Indian's strong belief in the power of witchcraft was believed by friends here to have resulted in the killing of the Rev. Arthur S. Tylee, his two-year-old daughter, Marion, and Miss Ethel Kratz, a registered nurse of Chicago, and the serious wounding of Mrs. Tylee, who was serving with her husband, an American missionary at Juruna, in the Brazilian jungle.

Excerpts from letters and communications to Mrs. William H. Tylee, mother of the murdered missionary, and friends revealed the hard and trying times undergone by Rev. Tylee and his small band among the native tribes.

The missionary band was stationed at Juruna, in the Andes uplands, in the thick of the Brazilian wilderness. The Indians of that section are of a primitive type who hunt with poisoned arrows and sleep on the ground practically without shelter.

In a recent letter, Rev. Tylee revealed how an epidemic broke out in the Indian tribe and how they took care of several members who were seriously ill. However, two Indians died and their deaths turned the tribes against them, believing that they possessed some superior power which brought about the death of two of their number.

Rev. Tylee pointed out in one letter that from this death and sickness the American learned much regarding the superstitions of the Indians, that death was caused "by evil spirit."

"When both Indians became very sick Monday afternoon the others accused us of having made them so with our medicines," he wrote. "We cited case after case which had been healed through taking our medicines. They acknowledged we were right."

In another section of the letter,

the young missionary declared, "This witch doctor is Captain Jao (John) of whom we have already written, the big chief of this section of the tribe. We understand that he tried to blow our house down upon us by the spirits."

Mrs. Harrison A. Silsbie, of New Bedford, a sister of Rev. Tylee said that the family had confirming reports and that the three died during an attack on the mission by the Indians.

Mrs. Silsbie further believed that the tragedy could be traced directly to the epidemic incident. Rev. Tylee and his small band established the mission five years ago. The Indians they found there were said to be just as primitive as they were 300 years ago. The station was located in the Andes uplands, in dense forests, which were pierced only by mule trails and treacherous streams.

Youth Injured By Dead Tree Trunk

GALLIPOLIS, O., Nov. 28.—Suffering with a broken shoulder and leg, received when the trunk of a dead tree fell on him, John Switzer, son of former Congressman Robert M. Switzer, was in a hospital today under careful surveillance by doctors.

Young Switzer was attending the football game between Gallipolis and Point Pleasant when the trunk worked itself loose and suddenly fell on him.

TOO MUCH "STEAM" DISQUALIFIES NAG

GATWICK, England, Nov. 28.—Kettle, a well bred racehorse won a race on the famous course here recently only to be disqualified for letting off too much steam.

At the weigh-in prior to the race Kettle was handicapped to carry 7st. 8lbs. but at the weigh-in after the race, which he won by two lengths, it was discovered that his handicap had increased over two pounds.

Fred Herbert, the jockey on Kettle informed the stewards that his horse had perspired so much during the race that the saddle cloth became saturated and the moisture so collected carried the combined weight of himself and equipment a little over 2 lbs. above the weight allotted in the handicap.

One of the strictest rules of racing is that a horse carrying more than two pounds over-weight shall be disqualified "unless the stewards be satisfied that such weight has been caused by wet."

As there was no rain during the race, the "wet" clause did not apply.

Miners Will Soon Be Back At Work In Southern Ohio

(International News Service)
ZANESVILLE, O., Nov. 28.—Bringing with it the end of a wage-war that has held more than 500 miners idle for months, Thanksgiving today was credited with bringing countless happiness to the families of these men who have been summoned to resume work in the mines of the New York Coal Company.

Mines 61 and 62 of the New York Company, in the rich south-eastern

Ohio field, will reopen shortly, according to an announcement made yesterday by officials of the company.

Large concessions were made by miners and operators to end the long battle and return the miners to work, it was said today. The holiday peace agreement presaged renewed and increased activity in the Tropic and Perry county fields where the New York Coal Company mines are located.

Klondike Holds Man Who Started Great Gold Rush

Still Digs Pay Dirt In Northland At Age Of 74

(International News Service)
PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 28.—Robert Henderson, the man credited with starting the world's greatest stampede of humans—the gold rush to the Klondike in 1897-8—is still digging his "pay" out of the Northland at the age of 74.

Henderson was a recent visitor in Portland and "lived as how" it was about time he was paying the city a visit, it having been 54 years since he had spent a night in Portland.

Although his official name is Robert Henderson, he is known to thousands of friends as "Big Chief Dirty Blanket"—a name given him by the Indians at Calgary years ago.

His claim to fame comes as the result of a strike made in 1894 and 1895 on Quartz creek where he washed out $620 in gold, a sufficient amount to convince others that wealth was to be had in the Klondike. As a result, some 60,000 gold seekers poured through Chitcot pass in 1898 at the peak of the gold rush.

Henderson has forsaken his old love, and is now interested in "200 miles of silver belt" on the Stewart river where, he claims, 10,000 tons of silver ore were removed last year.

He calls Victoria, B. C., his home but is vitally interested in the Yukon territory and plans to return to the old stamping grounds in the near future. Henderson was born in Pictou, Nova Scotia in 1856.

SWEATER HINT.
To keep sweaters and knitted suits coats from stretching down at the shoulders, sew a piece of ribbon (the color of the garment) the length of the shoulder seam on the inside of the garment, sewing the ends of ribbon at the neck and top of armhole and tacking the ribbon once on each side.

Eighteen Boys Are Making Tin Can Toys

A bang and a bang and a bang, bang, bang, Brawn, imagination, time, ingenuity, plenty of tin cans—and the result—toys.

By Christmas, 18 boys of Benjamin Franklin junior high school expect to have completed some airplanes, steam rollers, boats and dump trucks. Two times every month this "Toy Making" club meets in one of the trade school workshops and under the supervision of Raymond Marsh, they pound and twist and mold tin into presentable toys.

The Toy Making club is one of the 55 clubs formulated at the Franklin junior high school this year by Miss Edythe Dunlap of the faculty. It has met three times and the members are intensely interested in their project and are doing the work like veteran toy makers.

Sale of canned food in New Castle must have increased during the past several months, judging from the number of cans being used by these 18 lads. They are working with soap cans, condensed milk cans, sardine cans, herring tins, tobacco containers—cans of all sizes, all shapes.

Toy automobiles, army tanks and battleships are taking form and by the time Christmas gets here the toys will in all probability be complete and ready to give to baby brother.

Sometimes the boys have a hard time finding the shape can they need. In that case they haunt dump yards, seeking tin can treasures.

RETURNS WITH DEER
J. W. McElroy, Huron avenue, returned yesterday from Clearfield county, where he was hunting the past week. Accompanying him was a nice deer, which he had bagged, and his friends will be soon enjoying a venison dinner.

Note to both parties: A maiden in distress can perish while knights battle for the privilege of saving her.

Asylum Invented For Razor Blades

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—It's solved at last, that problem of "What to do with used razor blades?"

The answer of a New York hotel now under construction is "Just drop them in the wall."

Of all the many engineering, architectural and decorating problems confronting the hotel officials, it seems the razor blade question was the most acute. Experts were called in to discuss a matter that even the most clever housewives have been able to dispose of satisfactorily.

The mystery is what happens to the blade afterwards. Once it is dropped into the slot no one ever bothers about it again. It simply disappears so that not even Sherlock Holmes could find it.

JACKRABBIT'S SPEED
63 MILES AN HOUR

TYRONE, Okla., Nov. 28.—Nature's surely funny in some instances. But then maybe the speedometer of R. T. Linsey's friend wasn't working correctly when he timed the speed of a jackrabbit near here.

The jack, according to Linsey, started up 100 feet in front of the car. Just to see how fast it could run, the car was stepped up to 63 miles an hour—and still the rabbit kept ahead!

Mark

(International News Service)
SAN DIEGO, Nov. 28.—Gerald Nettleton, 20 year old Toledo, O. aviator, now probably the youngest member of the "Caterpillar Club" today was laying plans for another try at the trans-continental record he narrowly missed when forced to leap from his plane in a parachute yesterday.

Nettleton indicated that he would purchase another airplane and repeat his attempt to shatter the present coast to coast junior flight record.

High over the Laguna Mountains when only forty miles separated him from his goal Nettleton was forced to leap over the side of his plane in a parachute yesterday afternoon. Black clouds, a dense fog and ignition trouble which made his motor balk caused the young flyer to jump into Pine Valley. His plane crashed about one mile away, and Nettleton unhurt in the descent, made his way to a ranch house.

Judge Is Something Of Dry Humorist

Judge James A. Chambers enjoys a little joke occasionally, as was shown during arguments in a case at court this morning.

The subject involved was a traveling dentist, who had been located in Youngstown. The attorney in the case was trying to show that the dentist was no quack.

"Why," said he, "this dentist must have been a pretty good one for he went from Youngstown to the Cleveland clinic."

"Maybe he was employed to extract clinkers from the furnace," was the dry comment of Judge Chambers.

Attempt Made To Quash Indictment

Case Growing Out Of Marriage License Obtained By Girl 17 Is Argued

Arguments on a motion to quash an indictment against George Markas were heard before Judges Chambers and Hildebrand at court this morning.

Markas was charged with subornation of perjury in connection with the obtaining of a marriage license by Kalmon Toth and Velma Tamas last April. It was claimed that he had accompanied the couple to the court house and had stated that the girl was over 21 years of age, whereas in fact, she was but 17. It was also claimed that Toth and Markas by threats had caused the girl to give her age as 21. Question was raised by attorney for Markas on the language of the indictment. A decision will be handed down later.

Arguments were also heard in the cases of the Commonwealth against Joseph P. Lyde and George Keorner, Jr., of Butler. They were arrested on Grant street this city. Keorner was tried for operating a car while under the influence of liquor and Lyde, owner of the car, for permitting a man under the influence of liquor to operate the machine. Following a trial at the September term an application was made for a new trial for the defendants. It was claimed in the arguments, that the car was not actually driven by Keorner, but by another man who was an occupant of the car.

Motions for new trials were also argued in the following cases: Commonwealth against Joseph Duchich on a statutory charge; Commonwealth against A. M. Turkiewicz, libel; Commonwealth against Maria Brandolina and Commonwealth against John Marino, assault.

Noted Gangster Killed By Blast

Jack Stein, 28, Killed In Cincinnati Home, As He Prepares Nitro-Soup

POLICE UNCOVER BIG ARSENAL

(International News Service) CINCINNATI Nov. 28.—Jack Stein, 28, known to police as a Chicago gangster and safe blower, with a stir of a battered spoon inadvertently ended his life when the nitroglycerine "soup" he was preparing on the stove at his home exploded and wounded him fatally, police believed today.

One side of the man's house was blown out by the detonation of the powerful explosion which he was preparing for another "job" and when detectives and police arrived they found revealed one of the most complete arsenals ever assembled in Cincinnati.

Arsenal Uncovered Rifle, revolvers, shotguns, dynamite, dynamite caps and ammunition in large quantities and many different styles lay strewn through the wreckage near the fatally wounded victim, according to police.

Police claimed that an unidentified woman, who had posed as Stein's wife in the secret hiding lair, and three children who were in the house when the mixture exploded escaped death miraculously. The four were not injured by the blast which wrecked the quarters of the gangster, police reported.

Stein first gained notoriety in Chicago when he made a spectacular escape from a hospital last spring where he was being treated for wounds and injuries received when police surprised him while attempting to open a safe.

Officials said the man had participated in several safe-blowings recently in the Cincinnati business district, for which he had not been apprehended when the explosion took his life yesterday.

The alleged would-be murderer fell back out of the window unconscious.

Suggests Idea To Aid Unemployed

Thomas Haydon of 449 Neshannock avenue, suggests a new idea in the way of providing funds for the assistance of the unemployed of the nation. He said today that it occurred to him that if every employee who had a holiday yesterday and was paid for it, would donate the money to a fund of the unemployed, that there would be some millions of dollars raised for the fund at once. It would not be depriving anybody of any money that they had earned, either, he said.

Brucker, Self Made Leader Second Youngest Executive In Michigan State History

By IRA M. MOHLER
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LANSING, Mich., Nov. 28.—The second youngest state executive in Michigan's history takes the oath of office in the state capital here January 1. He is Wilbur M. Brucker, 36, who has fought his way from a practicing lawyer in Saginaw county 11 years ago to the highest elective office in the state and who is one of the few "poor" men to sit in the governor's chair.

Governor-elect Brucker's only predecessor to rule at a younger age was Michigan's first governor, Stevens T. Mason who was appointed to the position when he was but a youth of 21. Mason was appointed governor ex-officio July 6, 1834.

At the age of 9 Brucker's father died, leaving the boy to aid in the support of his mother. He continued through grade and high school being graduated in 1912. Despite financial difficulties the youth continued his education at the University of Michigan at Ann Arbor, working on tables to earn tuition.

He was graduated in 1916 with his L. L. B. degree, but before the young lawyer could begin practicing the World War called him.

The future governor was among the first to go, serving on the Mexican border and again overseas where in 1918 his services as a first lieutenant in the Rainbow Division infantry brought him a citation. On the day he returned home, he was admitted to practice before the Michigan bar.

Attorney Brucker's political career began with his appointment as assistant prosecutor of Saginaw county in 1920. He held the post two terms then successfully campaigned for his superior's position, serving twice as prosecutor.

In 1928 following the election of Gov. Fred W. Green, the rising young Saginaw prosecutor was appointed assistant attorney general, and two years later, when Attorney General William W. Potter was appointed to the Supreme Court, Gov. Green further indicated his faith in the assistant by promoting him to the vacancy.

At that time Joseph W. Fordney, who for 20 years had served as Republican Congressman from the Saginaw district, led a delegation in appealing to Governor Green to appoint Brucker attorney general.

Fordney's efforts held a touch of sentiment on the veteran congressman's part, for, when Fordney first was elected to the House of Representatives, he replaced Brucker's Democratic father. Shortly after the election the defeated Congressman died and Fordney always felt the defeat was in a measure responsible for the elder Brucker's death.

Attorney General Brucker is one of the few "poor" men to be chosen to guide Michigan's destinies. His only fortune is what he has accumulated during his 11 years of private practice and service to the state. His home in East Lansing is simple and modest in design and furnishings. His automobile is one of the moderately priced cars.

Hobbies of the governor-elect—when he has time to indulge in them—include activity in lodges and American Legion affairs. He has been prominently identified with Legion affairs since inception of the organization. In addition he is a Mason, an Elk, and a member of the Delta Sigma Rho and Sigma Delta Kappa societies.

The same "unfading service" Brucker promised voters during the recent campaign describes his devotion to his wife and five-year-old son, Wilbur Marion, II. The younger, incidentally, is probably the youngest political speaker in the country, having delivered election "speeches" from a soap box to neighborhood children.

A solidly built man with a square determined jaw, Brucker prides himself on keeping in excellent physical condition. During the months of grueling campaigning, the attorney general surprised his friends and associates by his ability to stand the strain. His habits of clean living—he neither smokes nor drinks—and his ability to take cat-naps while traveling in an automobile between speaking engagements aided him greatly on the several occasions when he covered as many as 300 miles and made as many as 20 speeches in a single day.

As a public speaker Wilbur M. Brucker's abilities are well known to citizens of Michigan. He began giving public addresses while in grade school and continued through his college days. His greatest asset, a clear ringing forceful voice, has made him one of the outstanding orators of the state.

Certify Lawrence County Potatoes For Use As Seed

Adverse Conditions During Growing Season Reduces Production Record In State

HARRISBURG, Nov. 28.—Of more than 46,000 bushels of seed potatoes certified in Pennsylvania this year, 900 bushels were certified in Lawrence county, according to the report of the bureau of plant industry, Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture. The report was made by K. W. Lauer of the bureau of plant industry.

Because of the adverse conditions during the later part of the growing season, the production compared to last year's crop was considerably reduced. Last year's production figures showed an average per acre yield of 247.8 bushels as compared with 207.7 bushels for 1930. The highest yield reported this year was grown by Robert Getz, of Carbon county, who grew an average of 407 bushels per acre on a seven-acre field.

Sixty-three potato growers of the State made application for the certification of 359.0 acres. Out of this number, 37 growers, representing a total acreage of 221.50 met the requirements and succeeded in having their fields passed. The varieties certified this year include the Irish Cobbler with 1962 bushels, White Rurals 9092 bushels and Russet Rurals 34,962 bushels, making a total production of 46,016 bushels. The crop this year is distributed among thirteen counties.

"Many of the fields that were entered for certification failed to pass the requirements because of the dry weather," Lauer explained. "While the drought affected all the fields entered for certification, only those fields that showed the necessary amount of thrift and vigor were accepted for final certification.

"The certified seed crop as a whole this year is very uniform, typically shaped for the variety, and small to medium in size which makes a most desirable seed. Because of the good seed stock planted, the crop this year showed very little disease.

"Many of the growers are reporting an excellent demand for certified seed. In fact a number of growers have already sold out their entire crop. Most of this demand has been coming from sources within the counties that are producing the seed."

The following table gives, by counties, the number of growers and the number of acres and bushels certified.

"To Seek And To Save"

"Brass Tacks" On The Sunday School Lesson

The Golden Text

For the Son of man is come to seek and to save that which was lost.—Luke 19:10.

By DR. ALVIN E. BELL

The sight of the chief tax collector officer of one of our leading cities clinging to a telegraph pole or tree to watch a passing procession would in deed be quite unique. It would hardly be regarded as comporting with the dignity of his position. But is would evince his unusual interest in the personage being honored by the procession.

Thus Zacchaeus, the "chief among the publicans" of the city of Jericho threw dignity and propriety to the winds in utter disregard in his zeal to satisfy his curiosity by getting a glimpse of the great prophet, Jesus of Nazareth who was passing through Jericho on his way to Jerusalem at the height of his popular favor. "And behold, a man called by name Zacchaeus and he was a chief publican and he was rich. And he sought to see Jesus who he was and could not for the crowd, because he was little of stature. And he ran on before and climbed up into a sycamore tree to see him, for he was to pass that way. And when Jesus came to the place, he looked up, and said unto him, 'Zacchaeus, make haste, and come down, for today I must abide at thy house.' And he made haste and came down, and received him joyfully."

The Courage of Unconventionality
This was an unconventional on Jesus' part as was Zacchaeus' pose in the tree for one of his dignity. The tactful and politic thing for the young prophet to do would have been to seek the hospitality of some priest's home, for Jericho was full of such, and Jesus might thus have made a gesture of fellowship in an effort to make himself strong with this influential element. But Jesus was not seeking his own interests on this, his final journey to Jerusalem or at any other time. "For the Son of Man come to seek and to save that which was lost," Zacchaeus was rich and powerful in the commercial life of Jericho, but Jesus saw him not in his guise, but as a lost sinner, hungering for the spiritual life he had been offering the nation, and Jesus knew that Zacchaeus' eagerness to see him evidenced a soul hungering and thirsting after righteousness, and he determined to satisfy this hunger rather than his own by inviting himself to be guest at Zacchaeus' table that day.

A Genuine Conversion

That Zacchaeus was genuinely converted from the sinful life of a typical tax grafter of the day is evidenced in his confession which he made frankly and unashamedly, "Behold, Lord, the half of my goods I give to the poor, and if I wrongfully exacted aught of any man, I restore fourfold." He was willing not only to confess his past wrongs in business, but to make full restoration and more. Religion was not to be a cloak to hide his sins but the means of beginning a new and changed life. Therefore Jesus answered the criticism of his hobnobbing with such a sinner by saying, "Today is salvation come to this house, for as much, as he also is a son of Abraham."

(The International Uniform Lesson for Nov. 30 is Luke 19: 1-10 the subject being "Zacchaeus the Publican: a Business Man Converted," and the Golden Text, Luke 19:10, "The Son of Man is come to seek and to save that which is lost.")

Science And Religion To Be Rabbi's Theme

Temple Israel Rabbi To Speak On Subject On Friday Evening

A Chicago attorney is inundating our country with a deluge of debates on: Science and religion, with the sinister implication that the scalpel of science is successfully dissecting the soul of religion.

Wherein lies the false premise of such a presumptuous implication? And why must the recent debates prove futile and fruitless?

Are scientific truths and religious needs actually opposed to each other?

Does the strength of science spell the ruin of religion?

What do bona fide scientists have to say in this matter?

Is the topic of science and religion a debatable question at all? The presence of a lawyer quibbles banish the presence of the living God?

These questions will be discussed by Rabbi Menkes at the regular Friday evening services at Temple Israel tonight at 8 o'clock.

After the services there will be a social hour with Dr. and Mrs. Morris Davis acting as hosts.

Saturday morning services at 10:30 o'clock.

Boy Builds Robot, Moves At Command

(International News Service)
COLUMBIA, S. C., Nov. 28.—A 13-year-old boy inventor has built a robot, almost as big as himself, that raises its arm then stops at the command of "halt" from its builder.

Bobby Lambert is proud of his invention. He grins as the whirling noises in the robot's chest announce that the mechanical man is going to raise an arm. An ordinary dial telephone starts it, Bobby explains.

Since he was seven years old Bobby has been experimenting. He is hunting a cheap substitute for gasoline.

Meanwhile he has built a radio broadcasting station that transmits programs for the neighborhood children, an electric fire alarm system, a burglar alarm and a private lighting system and telephone line. Now he is making a motion picture camera.

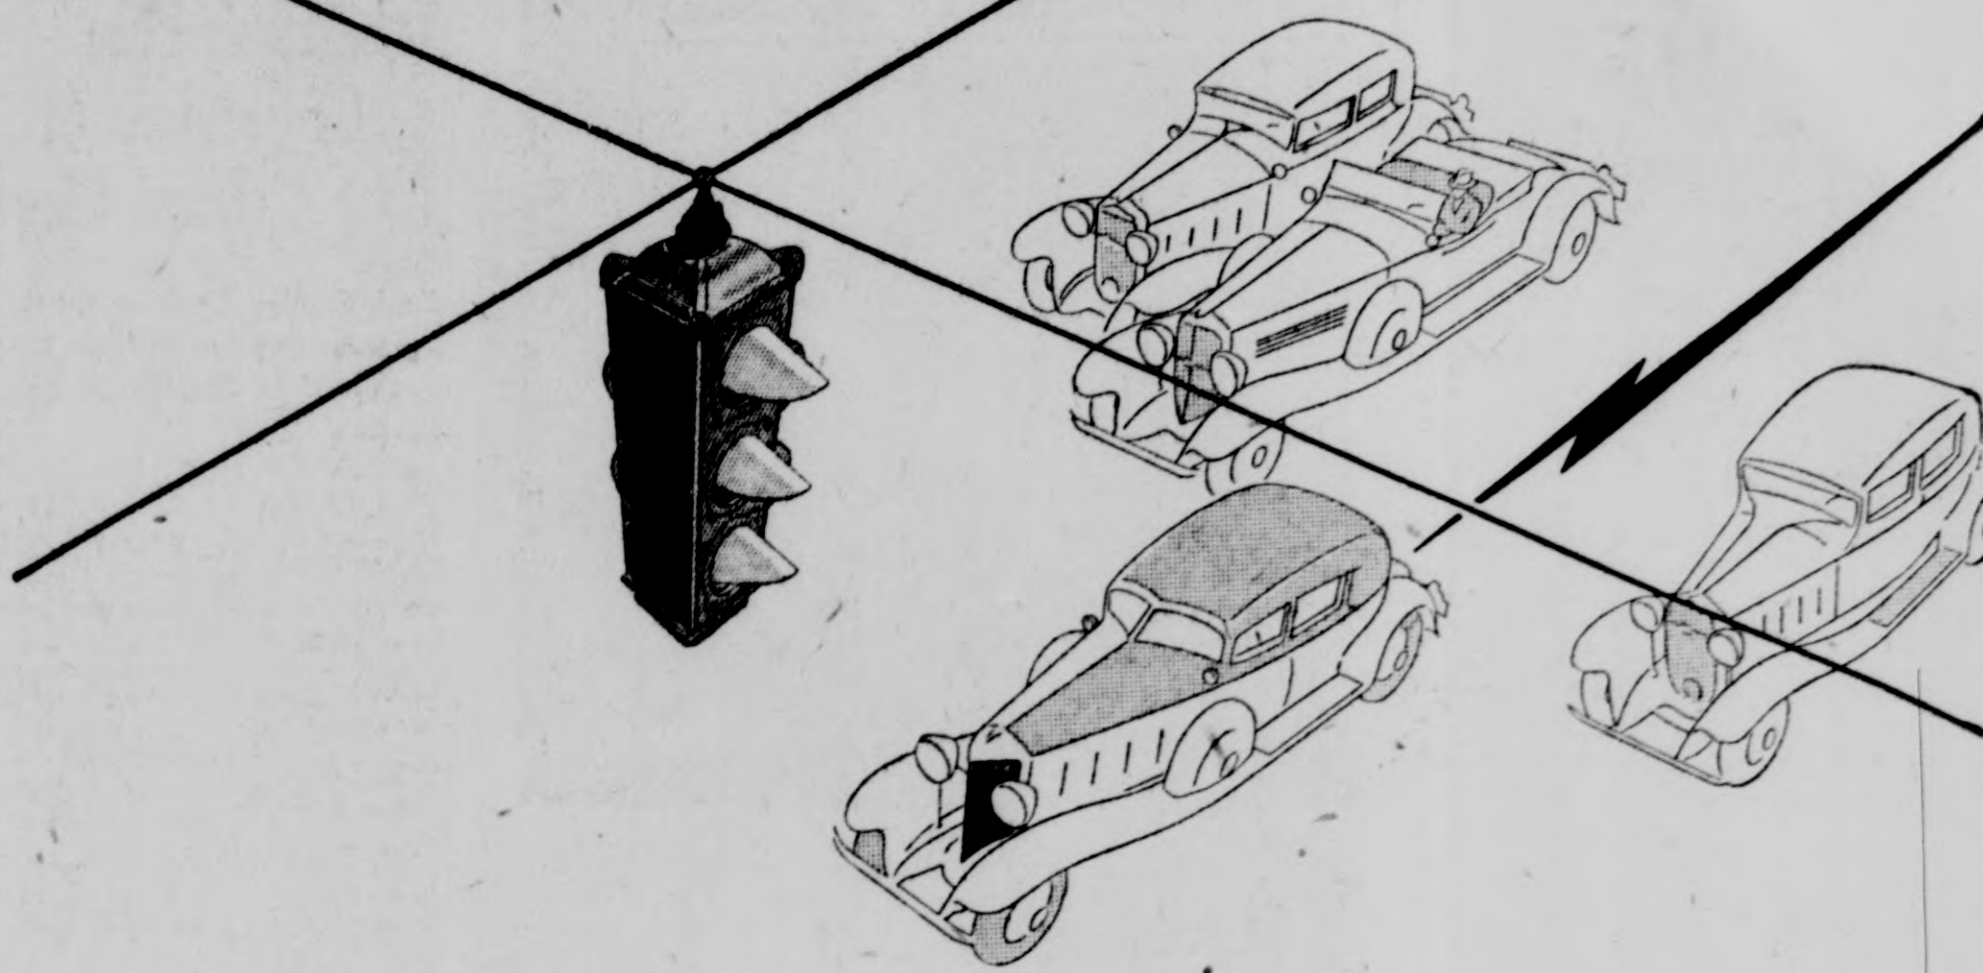

In his backyard is a miniature railroad, and children pay to ride on it.

He has a dog Bugs, and his shop is "The Bugs River Power & Light Company." His railroad is "The Bugsville & Northern."

South Siders On Deer Hunting Trip

Two well known south side hunters, Mike Fuzzone and Jack Steinbrink, left on Wednesday afternoon by automobile for Weedville, Pa., in Elk county on a deer hunting trip. They will probably return here by Monday morning.

Penn. Girl is Rewarded

WHEN children are weak and run-down, they are easy prey to colds or children's diseases. So it is never wise to neglect those weakening and depressing symptoms, such as bad breath, coated tongue, fretfulness, feverishness, biliousness, lack of energy and appetite, etc.

Nine times out of ten these things point to one trouble—constipation. Mothers all around you are coming right out in public to tell how their children are being relieved of this trouble by California Fig Syrup.

Mrs. L. Ricciardi, 5341 Irving Street, Philadelphia, says: "I have used California Fig Syrup myself so I knew what to give Margaretta when I saw by her bad breath and coated tongue that she was constipated."

"She has been more than rewarded for taking Fig Syrup. It made her a well, happy girl promptly. She never complains of any symptoms of constipation now."

The genuine, endorsed by doctors for 50 years, always bears the word California. All drug stores.

Ellwood Case Before Court

Suspect In New Year's Murder To Go On Trial In December

ARREST IN CASE MADE RECENTLY

While there are 116 cases listed for the December term of court, the actual number of cases to be tried will be about 70, with 25 of these desertion and non-support. The balance of the cases have been disposed of by pleas and it is likely that other pleas will be received.

One murder case will be tried in the December term, that of the commonwealth against Joe Pedula, who is charged with the murder of Sam Miller, in Ellwood City on January 1, 1930. Miller was found at his garage door on New Year's morning with two bullet holes in his head.

At the time of the murder it was difficult for the county detective Pock Lee to get any work done on the case because of the murder of Brady Paul and the murder of an old man named Rea on the Coaltown Road.

With the excitement and work attendant to these cases finished, Mr. Lee went to work on the Miller murder and finally ran down Pedula.

Attorney John G. Lamoree as assistant district attorney for the term. The Grand Jury will meet on Monday morning, December 1st, and criminal court will open on Monday morning, December 8.

Tabernacle Plan Of Services At Local Church

Each Sunday Evening An Evangelistic Service Will Be Conducted In Church Of God

ELLWOOD CITY, Nov. 28.—The First Church of God made announcement today of the fact that during the winter season a tabernacle plan of evangelistic service will be conducted each Sunday evening.

Rev. L. Earl Slacum, the pastor, has had several years of experience in evangelistic work. The rapid growth of the local Church of God is due in part to his evangelistic fervor which he has instilled in the church.

For some weeks back the church had carried on a program of two cottage prayer meetings a week, beside the weekly meeting on Wednesday. These meetings will be discontinued and all efforts will be concentrated toward the Sunday evening service.

A special prayer service will precede the evening service beginning at 7 o'clock in which the choir, the ushers, altar workers and all interested will meet for one half hour for devotion, instruction and discussion of the needs of souls that they might lead to Christ.

A recess of 15 minutes will be had. Then promptly at 7:45 the evening service will begin. A live interesting song program of 45 minutes will be put on each Sunday evening. Rev. Slacum has given proof of his ability to lead an evangelistic song service to an effective climax. The local and outside help that were used in the recent revival have been summoned to aid in these Sunday evening services.

Rev. Slacum will bring a live, enthusiastic, pointed evangelistic message. And efforts will be put forth each Sunday evening to lead men and women to Christ.

Lawrence County Farms And Farmers

By H. R. McCulloch, County Agent

WATER ESSENTIAL PART OF MILK COW'S RATION

Since milk is approximately 87 per cent water, it is evident that cows need a large supply of water daily. A good sized cow, producing a large amount of milk, will drink 150 to 300 pounds of water a day while the same cow, when dry, may not drink over 50 to 70 pounds.

Too often ice is chopped from the watering trough in winter or the cows have to go a long distance from the barn for a drink. Under these conditions a cow does not drink all the water she should have and her milk production will be lowered.

It is important that cattle, especially heavy milking cows, have access to water several times a day, or at will. Individual drinking cups furnish the best system where water can be used in that way and the barn does not freeze. The increased production of milk soon pays for the original cost.

Hot water added to the trough will remove the chill and help the cows to consume more water. Many dairymen have found this practical where the trough is located outside the barn. Cows which are kept in a shed and are stabled for feeding and milking only will produce more milk if there is running water in the shed at all times.

GROW SMALL PLANTS IN SASH GREENHOUSE

Sash houses or small greenhouses for starting seeds and small plants are gradually replacing manure-heated hotbeds.

Economy of operation and easy control of temperature, moisture and ventilation are influencing the change. There is little danger of the plants being frosted during severe weather because of the larger air space and regulated heat. Such houses usually are heated by a coal gas stove or a small hot water system.

A home-made sash greenhouse, 10 by 18 feet in size, that is tight and thoroughly practical for the small grower, can be built for approximately $100. This cost may be reduced by using posts from the farm woodlot and sheeting and bench material from the farm board pile.

The house should be located where maximum sunlight is available, extending it preferably north and south. Place the door in the south end and the stove in the opposite, colder end.

Houses which are much longer than 18 feet should have a home-made hot water system with pipes under the bench in addition to heat from a stove. The boiler, a small one but of ample capacity, is located in the pit in the cold end of the house. The pit should be roomy and equipped with a good workable drain.

Radio Will Aid Shipping To Pass Foggiest Coast!

Radio Beacon Will Guide Vessels In World's Worst Spot

(International News Service)

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 28.—Barren, isolated Scotch Cap Light station with its wreck of a Japanese steamer lying near by, the foggiest point of the Alaska mainland, has a radio beacon to guide the far northern voyager through the gateway to the Arctic wastes, according to reports from the light-house service.

Located at the most westerly point of the Alaska mainland, and fronting Unimak Pass the station will be a primary importance in guiding shipping through these fog bound waters. Its use will be of primary advantage to vessels making Unimak Pass but other ships taking the great circle route to Asia will hear its warning signals.

The beacon will add greatly to the efficiency of the lighthouse at Scotch Cap. When the light is invisible because of fog vessels one to two hundred miles distant will be provided a means of taking their bearings hours before the powerful light could be seen.

will send out its signal of two dashes continuously for the first 10 minutes of each half hour. In foggy weather the same signal is sent out for 60 seconds followed by a silent interval of 120 seconds. This system enables vessels to learn of weather conditions at the pass long before they arrive.

Typing Proves Popular Study At Junior High

More girls than boys are studying typing at Benjamin Franklin junior high school, but boys like to use typewriters and can make just as good speed as the girls, according to one of the commercial instructors. Many students sign up for typing each semester and are intensely interested in the study.

Recently at the junior high school a demonstration of the Remington noiseless typewriter was given and was witnessed by many members of the commercial department.

THE PARENT PROBLEM

Birth Mark Not Caused By Fright

Mental Or Emotional Experiences Wont Brand Baby

By GARRY C. MYERS, PH. D.
Head Division Parental Education, Cleveland College, Western Reserve University

"Do you believe a child can be marked before birth? I know many people laugh and say it can't be true. I don't realize how it should affect the baby, but still it must be true. I have a mark on my left hip that looks like a mouse, and my mother said she was frightened by a mouse at the time she was carrying me. So I don't know what to think; give me your opinion, won't you please?"

"I have a sister who is to become a mother for the second time, and she has a problem she wishes you to solve. Her girl is four years old and quite inquisitive. She asks her mother all sorts of questions about her condition. One of her questions is, 'Mother, what's the matter with your tummy?' Now, what should my sister tell her youngster? I know that your children must have asked questions similar to these, and since you are a beloved person to all who read your columns, won't you please answer in the Lorain Times Herald?"

Bless your heart, young woman, your frankness and obvious sincerity appeal to me. You are a reasonable person. Therefore you are not going to be misled by the superstition of "before birth marking." Body marks do appear, but there is no scientific evidence that they are caused by any mental or emotional experience of the mother before the child was born.

Let me quote from the latest authorities on the subject, from "Growth and Development of the Young Child," by Rand, Sweeney and Vincent, of the Merrill-Palmer School of Detroit:

"Although scientific findings have corroborated the usual traditional belief that severe emotional shock may injure mother or child physically, there is no scientific evidence whatever that any experience of the mother during pregnancy, can produce a so-called 'birth-mark' or can in any way affect the personality or character traits of the child directly. Familiar but unfounded beliefs are that playing the piano will make the child musical; looking at works of art will give artistic ability; seeing a mouse will mark the child's body with a patch of mouse colored hair. There is no foundation for such beliefs."

Just tell your sister to answer the little child naturally, telling her a baby is growing in the mother's body. Nothing more beautiful. Send a postcard to the Children's Bureau, Washington, D. C., and ask for the free pamphlet, "Are You Training Your Child to Be Happy?" In it is a chapter on "Have You Told Your Child Where the New Baby Comes From?"

Now, concerning your eleven-year-old sister, since she has no mother, be one to her and tell her what you are sure she ought to know. Make her your confidante, and cultivate an affectionate comradeship with her. When she will have grown up she will call you blessed. Most sympathetically and sincerely yours.

Captive Brown Bear Endangers Miners

Pet Becomes Too Rough After Attaining Full Growth

(International News Service)
CRESTED BUTTE, Colo., Nov. 28.—Crested Butte, Colorado coal mining camp, may lose its "zoo" in the near future.

Not that a cut in city appropriations or anything like that makes it necessary. "Jumbo," a huge brown bear, sole inmate of the local "zoo" is getting too rough for his keepers, and will have to be sent to some better equipped residence.

"Jumbo" was captured by Eric Johnson, mine mechanic and Ferner Ritter, miner, in the mountain wilderness that surrounds this town. When they caught him three years ago he was just a playful cub, full of funny tricks.

He is still full of funny tricks, but some of his tricks are not as much fun for his keepers as for the brown giant. "Jumbo" stands more than six feet tall in his stockinged feet.

One blow of his powerful forepaw is enough to floor the huskiest miner in the camp, and his teeth and claws are becoming a menace to human life. He is kept chained to a pole in the back yard of Ritter's home.

Before winter Johnson and Ritter plan to send him to some city where he can be placed in a regular zoo. Crested Butte is in the heart of the big game country, and every fall cubs are captured by deer hunters. "Jumbo" may be replaced by a smaller bear more suited to the accommodations afforded by this mining camp.

Denver Girls Seek Careers In Pulpit

To Seek Congregations Despite Handicap Against Sex

(International News Service)

DENVER, Col., Nov. 28.—Although women are still barred from the pulpit by many denominations, two Denver girls, Miss Esther Carlson and Miss Stella North, are laying the foundations for ministerial careers by attending the Iliff School of Theology in Denver.

"Women ministers are able to make an even more powerful appeal to their listeners than are men in many cases and many of them are very successful orators," Miss North said. "A minister should be a well-educated man, and a well-balanced man with wide interests in life."

Miss Carlson believes that a woman minister's work will be more appreciated if she enters some other field, such as social service work. "The men in her congregation resent her attempt to direct them spiritually," she said.

Miss Carlson admitted that in some isolated cases women had made conspicuous successes as preachers and mentioned the case of Rhoda Jane Dickinson.

Says Plane Will Be Safest Travel

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—Fog and storm will be conquered and the safest way to travel will be via air within five years, according to "Casey" Jones, well-known aviator.

Jones declared that with the development of the radio "beam" to determine the exact route and the perfecting of a new accurate altimeter which will record five-foot changes in altitude, flying will prove an advantage over other forms of transportation.

People never enjoy hearing a man say: "Be as good as I am"; especially when they're better than he is.

Farm Law Expert Sent To Senate By Iowa Voters

Has Been Regarded As Leader Of House Bloc
For Years

DICKINSON HAS BEEN FARM LEADER

By CURTIS HAY, Jr.
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

DES MOINES, Ia., Nov. 28.—The recent election of Lester Jesse Dickinson as United States Senator from Iowa will transfer from the House of Representatives to the Senate one of the leading Republican farm legislation workers.

For twelve years Dickinson served his State as congressman from the tenth Iowa district prior to his election as Senator. During that time he constantly worked for farm aid measures and in recent years has been regarded as the leader of the House farm bloc.

He is a practical farmer himself, owning a large agricultural estate in Iowa, and personally knows many of the problems that confront tillers of the soil. He was the author of the first bill embodying the general principles of the present farm board law. In 1923 and 1924 he was a Chautauqua lecturer on farm relief.

Dickinson first rose to national prominence through dissension within the Republican ranks.

In 1918 there was considerable disturbance in the ranks of voters in the tenth Iowa congressional district because Frank Woods, incumbent Republican congressman had voted against declaring war on Germany. The State leaders looked around for a candidate who could defeat Woods in the primary and Dickinson was drafted.

Prior to his successful entry into Congress, however, Dickinson had aspiration to become a State representative, but in this quest he was defeated. In the last six years, however, he has not had an opponent in the primary, either Democratic or Republican, for his Congressional seat.

Three members of the Iowa delegation, however, Representative Haugen, Dowell and Ramseyer have served longer in Congress than Dickinson.

In 1924 there was a boom for Dickinson as vice president of the United States, as a running mate for President Calvin Coolidge. Republicans in Iowa endorsed Dickinson and he went to Cleveland expecting to have his name placed in the running.

But Dickinson's name was not brought out, and Charles Dawes of Chicago was nominated and elected for the vice-presidency.

The new Senator was born at Derby, Lucas County, Ia., in 1873, the third of four children of Levi D. and Williamine Morton Dickinson.

Dickinson's father was a farmer and a dairyman and a descendant of Nathaniel Dickinson, who settled in Massachusetts in 1630. The elder Dickinson was born in Ohio and fought in the Civil War. After the conflict he migrated to Iowa and bought a farm, paying about one dollar an acre for the land.

Young Lester was raised on a farm, he learned to milk cows, plough, cultivate, hoe and do all the chores necessary around a big farm. Lester worked on his father's farm while he attended common school. He saved his money while working during summer vacations and after school, and helped pay his own way through Cornell College at Mount Vernon, Ia.

Dickinson thereafter was a successful lawyer.

In 1901 he married Miss Myrtle Call and the couple have two children, Lester Call, who is his Congressional secretary, and a daughter, Mrs. Rollin A. Hunter.

From 1909 to 1913 Dickinson was attorney of Kosuth county. This was his political baptism. He became a talker for the Republican organization and was graduated to the Republican state central committee.

In the House, "Dick," as he is called by friends is well liked. He is considered an able legislator and a real expert on farm matters.

One Old Adage Fails To Hold Good

No Honor Among Thieves Who Take Stolen Possessions

(International News Service)
DENVER, Col., Nov. 28.—"Honor among thieves" failed to function in the case of William Gardiner, 24-year-old negro, now in the Denver city jail.

Gardiner recently wrote his former employer, a garage owner at Brush, Col., that he had been kidnapped, robbed and warned to stay away from Brush by four white men.

Brush and Denver police got together and arrested Gardiner and the four white men, Rary Turner, 20; Peter Forthum, 20; George Goodwin, 20, and Peter Pender, 28.

Investigation disclosed that the four white men tried to buy gasoline from Gardiner in Brush, tendering a check in payment.

Gardiner refused to accept the check, but proposed that if the four men would drive him to Denver he would furnish gasoline free, according to police. The proposal was accepted and Gardiner left the garage, carrying with him a rifle, a suit, hat and the contents of the cash register.

On the road to Denver Gardiner was relieved of his newly acquired possessions by his white companions.

Take It Or Leave It—They called him a level headed fellow because he came from one of the best blocks in town.

THEY GAVE COUGARS TWO TITLES

Orin (Babe) Hollingberry, left, head coach of the Washington State Cougars, Pacific coast football champions, and William (Lone Star) Dietz, right, now head coach at Haskell Indian school, gave Washington State two coast grid titles, 15 years apart. Dietz, as Cougar coach in 1915, had a winning team, and Hollingberry's outfit is unbeaten, with the 1930 title sewed up. They were snapped together in Pullman, Wash.

Police Foil Gang Of Bank Robbers

One Alleged Robber Shot And Wounded, Four Others
Under Arrest

(International News Service)

BLOOMINGDALE, N. J., Nov. 28.—Plans for a bandit raid on the First National Bank of Bloomington were smothered today when one alleged robber was shot and four others arrested, according to police.

Two men were seen scouting around the bank for the past few days allegedly outlining a holdup attempt. An employee of the bank tipped off state troopers and police.

Today two high-geared automobiles carrying five men came into Bloomington.

Two state troopers and two police chiefs called on the machines to halt when they approached the bank, the leading machine spurred ahead. Police opened fire.

One of the alleged bandits slumped with a bullet in his side. The two cars crunched to a stop and the hands of the bandits went high in the air. The quintet were arrested.

Police said they found guns on each of the five men.

The Chicago police arrested an absent-minded confidence man last week who forged another fellow's name on his tombstone.

TOYLAND

You know, they say that after the store's closed up each evening and all the lights are turned off and no one's left down at Sears, Roebuck & Co. but the watchman downstairs . . . well, then they say things happen down in Toy Land. All the dolls and soldiers start to talk at once; they talk about the different boys and girls they've seen and which ones they like the best. They go for joyrides on the electric trains and cook a big banquet on the electric ranges and eat it off of little dishes. The steam engines puff and toot, the animals and clowns stage a circus. It's all a perfectly fantastic thing to believe, of course . . . yet, though they won't admit it . . . everyone, from the manager down to the watchman, hopes it's true.

If you come down town to Sears, Roebuck & Co. real soon you'll see hundreds and hundreds of wonderful toys. And maybe . . . if you look real sharp you'll catch a glimpse of the things we've mentioned. That is, if the dolls and soldiers and Indians don't think you're looking.

Blocks are endless fun in the days he spends indoors.

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations Of Interesting Things Around New Castle

Back in the hot weather, when the mercury was doing a long job of flagpole sitting, the pictures of the Byrd expedition to the South Pole had some interest. While the perspiration trickled down over what had been a collar, the sight of those majestic mountains of ice and the roar of the wind seemed a promise of relief from the heat spell.

After sitting out that football game yesterday afternoon at Tanager Field, the Byrd Expedition is just another cold trip, for it was cold enough to freeze the feet of the man on the public square monument.

Beauty was on a falling market. Young ladies who ordinarily wouldn't have any more to do with woolen hose than they would with a case of small pox, came into the stadium looking like female lumberjacks. Then to add to the ensemble they wore blankets as additional skirts and walked out of the stadium with them trailing the ground.

It was reported, but not verified, that a young lady from Turtle Creek had her feet frozen because she had come to the game in silken hose and light shoes.

It took most of us until ten o'clock last night to get thawed out.

There may have been a few people who felt they didn't have much to be thankful for last night at the dinner table, and yet if you could have seen another Thanksgiving dinner that was staged in the city, you could have forgotten your own little troubles.

Perhaps the stock market did you wrong, and perhaps you haven't felt able to buy another car this season, but you had enough to eat and a place to sleep, and nobody was likely to come around and order you to move on.

Up in the police station they had a Thanksgiving dinner for about thirty unfortunates who came in to ask for a place to sleep. The officers tossed in a dime each into a fund, and purchased some meat and vegetables, all of which went to make an old fashioned mulligan. It was made in a boiler and served in the cell room, but not even the drab surroundings could kill the aroma and the taste.

The cops get blamed for being hard boiled and cynical at times, and the criticism may have some truth in it, but incidentally last night's mulligan dinner counteracted a lot of that.

They weren't all panhandlers in that group of men who got the dinner. Among them were fellows who looked as though they would amount to something, given the chance. They were just down on their luck, penniless, homeless, no where to go, and nothing to eat. Under such circumstances a steel bunk in a drab room takes on the appearance of a hotel bed room, and mulligan stew goes a long way towards replacing roast turkey.

It was good mulligan, savory, well done, and plenty hot. The artist who built it was Officer Robert Dukes who during the World War was a cook in his outfit. If all the mulligan or slumgullion he made in the army was poured in one big hole it would make a lake about the size of Casade. But he never made any stew quite as carefully as he did that last night.

Up at the Cathedral the cops were stepping high wide and handsome at the annual ball and with them a couple of thousand folks from the city. Fox trots replaced handuffs, and vanity cases took the place of night sticks.

Tomorrow—the first showing in any retail store in Northwestern Pennsylvania of a bedroom suite that will sweep the nation by storm. There's a real story back of this remarkable sale! The manufacturer wanted to keep his factory running. The public this season favored Early American bedroom suite in maple finish. ## There Never Was a Lower Price!

Never before in our experience has there been an authentic period creation like this at so low a price. And we doubt if the price of this four-piece suite can possibly remain as low as $79 later when business conditions, the cost of materials and labor approach anything like a normal basis.

Bear in mind that $79 includes everything—the stately four poster bed, the large dresser and the vanity with their typically Early American mirrors, also the spacious highboy—all exactly as pictured. The workmanship, the wood, the turnings, the mirrors—every detail is remarkable in a suite at so low a price.

Every piece in this remarkable suite is constructed of the finest American gumwood which makes up in solid wood most attractively without the use of veneers. They are finished in the season's most popular shade of maple—richly grained and very beautiful. The opportunity of a lifetime to own an Early American period suite.

Just $7 places this complete suite in your home, and convenient terms can be arranged on the balance. It is the greatest value we have offered in many a year—and our first shipment will sell in a hurry so plan to come early tomorrow.

NEW CASTLE ENDS 1930 GRID SEASON IN BLAZE OF GLORY

Pretty Pass 33 Yards, McAuley To Lasky Scores Winning Touchdown For Red And Black Warriors; Both Teams Fumble Many Times; Fans Watch One Of Best Games Enacted Here This Season; William Ciccone And Jimmy Mike Play Excellent Game On Line; Ten Gridders End Schoolboy Career on Thanksgiving Day.

New Castle high school grid warriors ended the 1930 season in a blaze of glory on Thanksgiving Day at Taggart Field, when they fought their way to a 6-0 victory over a smooth and determined Turtle Creek Union grid machine. The severe cold weather kept down the usual immense crowd that gathers at the Turkey Day game, although several thousand were in the stands.

The winning touchdown which spelled defeat for the Turtle Creek gridders, for the first time this season, came late in the second quarter, when a pretty pass. Captain McAuley to Lasky from the 33 yard line took the pigskin over the goal line. The game yesterday saw ten boys playing their final game as members of the local high school team.

Both Teams Fumble
Although the day did not prove adaptable for football due to a severe cold wind, and snowy ground, both teams fought hard from the start of the contest until the end. A total of 16 fumbles, eight for each team were checked up, the icy ball being hard to handle.

The defeat for the Turtle Creek team was the first one of the season. Turtle Creek came here with a good team, an eleven that never gave up. Had the day been a better one for football, Turtle Creek might have played a much better game. The weather was a disadvantage to both teams.

Play Even In First Quarter
The eleven played on even terms in the first quarter. New Castle had the ball on the 18 yard line but a penalty of 15 yards moved the ball back near mid-field where the locals lost it on down. The first quarter saw a number of fumbles on the part of both elevens as the quarter ended with Turtle Creek in possession of the ball on the 35 yard line.

At the start of the second chapter Union was forced to kick. New Castle acquiring the oval on the 31 yard line. After Captain McAuley made a spectacular run of 22 yards around left end, Lasky fumbled. Union fumbled the ball and New Castle again was in possession of the ball. The locals after three unsuccessful plays were forced to kick. Andy Lasky made a good kick to the 1 yard line where Cicci fell on the ball.

The visitors got out of a tight hole when Berg punted the line on a mark from behind the goal line. From here the local cohorts through the help of Thomas and McAuley punted the ball on the 9 yard mark only to lose it on downs. Union was forced to kick again after two plays which netted only a few yards. Berg kicked to the 49 yard mark where Duncan fell on the oval.

On the first play Thomas made a 12-yard run through the line on a fake double pass. Two successful plays, a short pass, McAuley to Rowe, and a line buck by Thomas placed the oval on the 29-yard line. On the next play Captain McAuley ran back to the 33-yard mark where he heaved a pretty pass to Andy Lasky, who caught the ball on the 3-yard line and raced over the goal line for the New Castle score. McAuley failed to annex the extra point when he tried to pass to Thomas. It was broken up. In the third quarter after Bair failed to gain near the 30-yard mark, Berg kicked out of bound to the 6-yard line. Lasky in a cool manner behind his line, kicked the ball to the 22-yard mark. Two successful line plunges by Westin brought the ball to the 12-yard mark. Bair placed the ball on the 11-yard mark on the next play.

Westin attempted another line plunge which proved successful and placed the oval on the 6-yard line. Coach Bredenbaugh of the New Castle team substituted Turk for Askounes. Westin, Turtle Creek's yard gainer, was again called to carry the ball over but somehow fumbled and Harry Crisci recovered for New Castle.

The visitors lost a golden opportunity of scoring here. The quarter ended with the visitors in possession of the ball on the 43-yard mark. Turtle Creek carried the ball most of the time in this quarter. As the fourth and final quarter got under way Coach Foxy Miller's boys put every bit of light left in them in a hope of scoring. But their chance had come and gone. Most of the playing in this quarter took place in mid-field with New Castle playing smart football. The Turtle Creek rooters got a thrill for a minute. After New Castle received the ball near mid-field, Thomas fumbled on the next play on the 45-yard line with Turtle Creek recovering. A pass, the best one of the game, came at this time when Bair threw a beautiful pass to Berg, who almost was loose. He was stopped after making 20 yards on the 30-yard line.

Turtle Creek attempted many other passes but failed. The contest ended with Union in possession of the ball on the 41-yard line. Score, New Castle 6, Turtle Creek 0.

Cold And Snow Fails To Halt Football Games

Pitt Hold Victory Over Penn State—Duquesne Ahead Of Providence Team

MANY UPSETS IN THURSDAY'S GAMES

King Football's reign will soon be over. Yesterday afternoon on numerous frozen gridirons, many of the college boys hung up the moleskins ice-crusted. The last ounce of energy for dear old Siwash has been put forth. Only a few intersectional clashes remain on the program before the 1930 season can be called a season.

The Pitt Panthers with a badly crippled lineup due to the loss of MacMurdo, Collins, etc. eked out a 19 to 12 victory over a snapping, biting, hard riding Nittany Lion from Penn State.

The Dukes of Duquesne outlasted the Providence boys 15 to 6 in a breakfast engagement at Forbes Field, Pittsburgh. Up in Grove City the big Crimson tide swarmed all over Thiel for a 13 to 0 victory.

Tuss McLaughry's big Brown Eleven folded up like an Arabian tent and took one on the chin for a 27 to 0 loss with the powerful Colgate team riding the waves to the top. Penn had a tough customer in Cornell and the dear old Penn boys had to eat Turkey last night with a 13 to 7 defeat as the desert.

Syracuse ended a season filled with thrills by brushing the snow off Columbia for a 19 to 7 count. Alabama's great big eleven showed Georgia a few tricks about football to the tune of 13 to 0, thus assuring themselves of an invitation to the sunny shores of California.

Closing Football Game Of Season Is Thriller; Spectators Are Chilled

There was plenty for the New Castle football fan to be thankful for last night. The score for one thing, the success of the season for another, but most of all he was thankful that the game didn't last any longer than it did. As it was there were about 3000 of the 3500 fans present at the game just this side of being frozen stiff, and the other 500 were numb. But the score 6-0, in favor of New Castle had something of a warming influence.

After yesterday's experience at the game this stunt of Admiral Byrd's doesn't seem such a much at that it was cold at the South Pole, well it was cold at the game yesterday and if you were one of the smart lads who stayed home by the fire and called the News every now and then.

Real Finish
The game between New Castle and Turtle Creek was the kind of a season under that Frank Merrill delighted in seeing. One of those games where the two teams were primed for the battle and all that sort of thing, where the going was tough and the opposition strong, with the home team steaming in a winner by a nose.

With the weather the way it was, that game could have been a lot worse and still been a good one. There was some fumbling, but the miracle is that there wasn't more. Try it yourself sometime with the mercury down around the zero mark, and a wind blowing that would do nicely to refrigerate a side of beef. Of course there was some fumbling, and a team composed of Red Grange, the Four Horsemen, Harry Kipke and a lot of Bronco Nagurski's would have fumbled on that field.

Smart Football Won
You can ascribe several reasons why New Castle won and make them stick also, but the real reason was that there was some smart football played. That fake double pass for example which was used so successfully. Or the timing of forward passing just when you knew it would be a line buck. It was a forward pass by the way. McAuley was forward pass by the way.

Local Independent Eleven Proves Surprise In Hold-Ellwood City Eleven

Marcella football team, of this city, proved a real surprise on Thanksgiving Day, holding the Ellwood City 1925 Ex-High stars to a 7-7 deadlock at Ellwood City before a big crowd.

The Marcella eleven opened up with an attack that bewildered the Tube City boys. The local team made a steady march down the field and scored in the first quarter when "Buddy" Marino recovered Richards' fumble behind the goal line.

Ellwood City was held scoreless for three quarters. With only a few minutes left to play Walt Summers playing for Ellwood City intercepted a pass and raced for a touchdown. The contest proved exciting throughout.

For the Marcellas the playing of Mike DeMuccio, Tip Richards, and Carl Genock featured. For the Ellwood team the playing of DeMaso and Turner featured. As a result the local independent team remains undefeated for the season.

The summary of the game follows:

Four Teams Are Undefeated And Not Even Tied

Notre Dame, Washington State, Utah, And Alabama Stand Out

By COPELAND C. BURG International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—Football's fading season settled down on the horizon today, silhouetting like towers of stone four undefeated, united teams. They are Notre Dame, Alabama, Washington and Utah.

Alabama came through with a smashing 13 to 6 win over the well-drilled Georgia team yesterday and Utah took all the flavor out of the turkey dinners of the Utah Aggies, drum-sticking them to the tune of 41 to 0.

If Bama plays Washington State in the annual New Years Day classic at Pasadena and wins they will have quite a list on the National Gridiron title. The Cougars of Washington are Pacific coast champions and undoubtedly will add to their laurels tomorrow by winning over Villanova at Philadelphia.

Knute Rockne's Irish, called by some his greatest team, have the toughest road to travel to victory for they must not only win tomorrow from the Army in Chicago but on December 6 beat Southern California, a team which showed its great power yesterday by defeating Washington 32 to 0. This same Washington team held Washington State to a 3 to 0 win.

Two Star Quarterbacks Adorn Southern California's Roster

By JACK SORDS

Central Press Sports Editor

Until Joe Savoldi resigned from Notre Dame that eleven was unique in possessing two star fullbacks. However, Southern California, Notre Dame's final foe of the season, had two star quarterbacks—and still has them.

Marshall Duffield, the Trojans' No. 1 quarterback, is really a half-back who calls signals. Duffield is without doubt one of the greatest offensive units in football today. He is a leading scorer on the coast, a sure ground gainer, fast and a shrewd ball runner. Duffield's smart generalship has been a great aid in the Trojans' attack, the chunky signal caller spotting the holes in opposing lines and sending his attack through them at the right time.

Duffield is a veteran, seasoned in Pacific coast football wars. Replacing Duffield whenever Coach Howard Jones decides to give the field marshal a rest, is Orv Mohler, another "halfback who calls signals."

Mohler's ability is best revealed by Jones' statement that he "never saw a sophomore the equal of Mohler."

Mohler, like Duffield, is a high scorer. He is a shrewd field general and an exceptional ball carrier. All he seems to need is experience and he has been getting plenty of that with the Trojan regulars piling up a safe enough score in most games to give the No. 2 men a chance to get in the game.

It is a matter of much satisfaction to Trojan fans to know that when Duffield goes a man believed at least his equal will step into his shoes.

Spying On Sports

by BILL RITT

By WILLIAM RITT

Central Press Sports Editor

There'll be no arguments this season as to what food or climate produces football champions.

If team records are to be taken as a criterion then the corn pone and side meat of the sunny south are no more or less potent in producing football champions than the blue berry pies of New England. Are the zephyrs of the Pacific coast any more conducive to gridiron brawn than the raw winds of the middle western plains?

Each section of the country has its unbeaten heroes and a number of these unchastened eleven's appear destined to see Christmas without their records having been blemished by a licking.

Notre Dame, totting the banner of the mid-west, is first thought of because of its terrific schedule. However, the south has a very respectable champion in Alabama. The big Crimson Tide met 'em all down that way and sent 'em all about their business. As far as competition in one's own sector goes, the Tide's grid bookings this season were very tough ones.

Up in the austere hills of New Hampshire, Dartmouth remains unbeaten though tied by a desperate Yale team. This same Eli outfit was unable to upset unbeaten Army though Yale did manage to tie the Cadets.

Utah, secure in its Rocky mountain stronghold, has been unbeaten so long the Utes have forgotten what defeat means, and this year was no exception. Mountain competition is not regarded as being so keen as that encountered in other sectors. However, Utah's supremacy was so well established this year that the Utes must be given the same ranking with the other major unlicked eleven's.

Out on the Pacific coast, Washington State still stands, the Cougars' football citadel unconquered. The Cougars, you must remember, were the babies that put a defeat over on Southern California, the only trouncing the Trojans have suffered this year.

Utah stands alone in that her strength will not be given a good test in what remains of the season's schedule. Notre Dame will be tested against Army and again against the Irish will undergo pretty severe tests themselves in those games. Dartmouth must show how good are the Big Green football wares to get by Stanford, and Alabama and Washington State, most likely, will be opponents in the Rose game in Pasadena, Cal., New Year's day.

Shingleton Gets Doe On Thursday

J. C. Shingleton, of Martin street, is one of the first Pennsylvania hunters to bag a doe this season. Early Thursday morning, the opening day of doe season, Mr. Shingleton while tramping through Clearfield county woods, came upon the deer and shot at it. The bullets hit the target and Mr. Shingleton got the deer.

Last year also Mr. Shingleton bagged a deer. He will stay in Clearfield county for the buck season.

DANGEROUS ROAD CROSSING GONE

SEWARD, Pa., Nov. 28—One of the most dangerous grade crossings in the state has been eliminated here with the opening of the overhead crossing bridge of the Pennsylvania Railroad, built at a cost of $200,000. Six persons were killed at the crossing last year and in four years ten lives have been claimed by accidents there.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Savoldi scored the only touchdown for the Bears who beat the Cardinals in a pro' grid game at Chicago.

J. D. Callery, Pittsburgh horseman had three winners at Pinehurst yesterday. Ima McGregor, Graceful Day and Lord Caville turned in wins.

Tiberi, substitute staged a 165 run for a touchdown for Salem college against Fairmont Normal at Fairmont, W. Va. Salem won 27-0.
